

CONVENTION DEADLOCKED AFTER 15 BALLOTS; M'ADOO AND SMITH LEADERS SEE BREAK TODAY

American Flag Cut Down by Unidentified Jap

AMERICAN CHARGE TAKES UP MATTER WITH SHIDEHARA

Mass Prayer Meeting At All Temples Throughout Country Opens Demonstration Today.

TELEGRAPH, TELEPHONE POLES ARE ALL POSTED

Newspapers Print Anti-American Cartoons—Scores of Patriotic Meetings Are Held.

Tokio, July 1.—(By the Associated Press.)—An unidentified Japanese today cut down the American flag flying in the American embassy grounds.

Jefferson Caffery, the American charge d'affaires, immediately took the matter up with Baron Shidehara, the foreign minister.

The police are making a search for the man who cut down the flag.

DEMONSTRATION AGAINST EXCLUSION EFFECTIVE TODAY
Tokio, July 1.—(By the Associated Press.)—The nation-wide demonstration against the American exclusion act, which goes into effect today, opened with a mass prayer meeting at all the national Shinto shrines throughout the country. Crowds petitioned the ancient deities to aid the people in this treacherous time when the Japanese race is "insulted" by exclusion from America.

Tokio's principal meeting was at the Meiji shrine. It was attended by thousands of nationalists and others. Scores of other anti-American meetings are being held in Tokyo alone today.

All the vernacular newspapers print anti-American cartoons.

The Story of Day.
Despite the opening of the diet, the newspapers make the demonstration the big story of the day. The editorial comment, however, is moderate. Prominent men interviewed, while expressing general indignation against America, urge the people to seek strength by internal cooperation.

Patriotic societies last evening placed practically every telephone and telegraph pole in the city with the following:

"Japanese must never forget July 1, when America inflicted an intolerable insult on Japan. Always remember the date. Prepare for such steps as are demanded by the honor of the fatherland when the occasion comes. Every Japanese must remember the following rules:

- "1. Alter your mode of living so as to impress the date lastingly upon your mind.
- "2. Hate everything American, but remain kind to American individuals.
- "3. Deny yourself all luxury.
- "4. Never forget national honor for private gain.
- "5. Never enter a church supported or guided by Americans or United States missionaries."

NARCOTIC BANITS LOOT DRUG STORE; DRUGS DISAPPEAR

Morphine, opium and other narcotics valued at more than $100 were stolen from the Standard pharmacy, 192 West North avenue, early Monday night by thieves who gained entrance by sawing the iron bars on a rear window.

Although many valuable articles are kept in stock in the store, the bandits evidently were searching for narcotics and nothing else.

The robbery was discovered by the policeman on the beat who noticed the bars had been sawed from the window.

PRESIDENT ORDERS NEW BUDGET CUT FOR U. S. OFFICES

Federal Executives Are Told Government Expenditures Must Adhere to Economy Plan.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, June 30.—President Coolidge called upon the administrative heads of the government tonight to measure up to "a full test of our national character by giving efficient administration of that further reduction in taxes for all of the people may be accomplished."

Speaking before more than 1,000 executive officers at the seventh semi-annual meeting of the business organization of the government at the close of the fiscal year, the chief executive outlined his policies for the future with the declaration that all of his subordinates must enter into their spirit as well as in practice. "I am for economy," the president said. "After that, I am for more economy. We must give the people relief from the excessive burden of taxation."

Program of slashes.

Mr. Coolidge's program contemplates cutting expenditures to the core. He wants to continue even more drastically the three-year-old economy program. To do so he enjoined those responsible for spending the government's money that every administrative effort be carried on with the absolute minimum of expense. That means he asserted, that the government payrolls must be reduced.

The president's broad outline of his views was expanded by Director Lord of the budget bureau, who warned that those who failed to function sympathetically, or who obeyed the chief executive's instruction in half-hearted fashion, may as well feel that they are not desired in the government machinery. He added that disloyal ones have a place in the organization. The director explained that the bureau's agents were cognizant of all activities in the government and said he would not fail to call shortcomings to the president's attention.

First Campaign Speech.

The speech was the first by Mr. Coolidge since the republican party selected him as its presidential candidate and he chose in this utterance to review the financial accomplishments of the administration for the past three years. In this period he said there was a net reduction in the great public debt of more than $2,720,000,000 and a consequent saving to the people of more than

FIRST 15 BALLOTS MERE TUG-OF-WAR WITHOUT INTEREST

First Day's Voting Closed With McAdoo Having Small Reserve and Smith Virtually None.

JOHN W. DAVIS SEEN AS REAL DARK HORSE

Only Bright Spot of Day Was Notification That Bryan Had Become Great-Grandfather.

BY MARK SULLIVAN.

Madison Square Garden, New York, N. Y., June 30.—From 9:30 o'clock in the morning until close to midnight, as between McAdoo and Smith, there was no very inspiring leadership or spirit on either side. They were just grinding away at each other, each refraining from showing his full strength and neither getting very far.

McAdoo started the day session with just about the number of delegates he was expected to have on the first ballot, both by his own leaders and his opponents' leaders; namely, just over 450. McAdoo's leaders would undoubtedly have preferred to start with a smaller vote. If they had been able to, they would have been glad to throw a few delegates away, either to Smith or to a dark horse, for the first few ballots and begin themselves with, say, 350. But it was not possible for the McAdoo leaders to do this because the great bulk of their delegates were selected through the direct primary process and are, therefore, instructed and must vote according to their instructions.

Smith Delegates Mobile.

Smith's delegates, on the other hand, were chosen for the most part, by conventions. They are under the command of state leaders and they can be switched about with a good deal of mobility. The consensus was that the Smith leaders, with wise strategy, started very low.

The whole of the day session was spent in a gradual edging up by both McAdoo and Smith. McAdoo went slower than Smith because he had started higher. In the whole of the 15 ballots, the situation did not greatly change. At 10 o'clock in the morning McAdoo had 431 1-2 to Smith's 240. When the session ended late in the afternoon McAdoo had 444 6 to Smith's 274. All of that early balloting could just as well have been avoided. It merely represented the disclosure of facts and figures that the leaders knew mutually about each other before the balloting began.

With the beginning of the evening session some real things began to happen. McAdoo added Kansas to his strength, as well as some other scattering delegates, and went up to 470-odd. The Smith leaders, in order to seem to match this leap, added New Jersey with its 28 delegates.

McAdoo Still Has Reserve.

From then on McAdoo was destined to show a greater relative strength for a time at least. At 10 o'clock tonight if you had asked the McAdoo managers where they expected to get their next additions, they probably would have said from Arkansas, from Mississippi and from Nebraska. And

TAX EQUALIZATION REPEAL COMES UP IN SENATE TODAY

Measure Was Passed by House Last Year—Has Been Center of Many Hot Fights.

With the tax equalization repeal bill on the senate calendar for consideration today, interest in the general assembly will center today on the upper house.

This measure, which has been the center of bitter legislative fights, was passed early in the regular session of 1923 by the lower house. It was debated one day in the senate, re-referred to committee and was not reported out again last year. It was freely charged on the floor of the house that the senate was holding up the repeal bill in an effort to force the lower house to pass the state income tax measure, as provided in the bill of Senator Lanford.

The income tax bill finally passed the lower house at the special session last fall, but in amended form, and the two branches were never able to agree on these changes, the bill finally failing when the session adjourned sine die with the deadlock unbroken.

Little Work by Assembly.
With barely a quorum present for transaction of business, the Georgia general assembly Monday failed to act on any important issues. The senate adjourned after a thirty-minute session, while the house, which convened at 11 o'clock, decided to call it a day's work at 12:45.

During the brief session there was a short debate on a bill already passed by the senate, to amend the state law in regard to garnishment for debt. The supporters of this measure, however, finding that there was too much opposition to leave any hope for its passage, had it tabled.

Representative Wimberly.

of Toombs, introduced a resolution for a legislative investigation of the state public service commission. The

"Funny" Stuff Mars Record Of Georgia's Vote on Klan

CONVENTION HALL, MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, JUNE 30.—(Special.)—Under a lead introducing the following sentence, "A singular aggregation of mistakes, mysterious appearances of votes where no votes are shown on the official record," the New York World today created a sensation in the democratic national convention circles by a detail news story of alarming frankness, relating to the defeat of the minority report on the Ku Klux Klan issue.

Following is the text of The World's story, which will be reviewed with great interest in Georgia:

The Story.
"The problem centers about Georgia, where perusal yesterday of the official record shows that not only did three persons shift their votes, under pressure, which was variously attributed to the Ku Klux Klan and W. G. McAdoo, but that the delegation had after the first roll call an accretion of 2 1-2 votes for which the records show no explanation at all. Four votes which were counted against the resolution from the Canal Zone may be thrown out entirely because the San Francisco convention held that the Canal Zone was entitled to but two votes."

"This big figure at the situation is Hollins Randolph, chairman of the Georgia delegation, who was reported by Georgia newspapers to have the biggest power in picking it."

Randolph Denies Klan Office.
"Randolph is a great-grand grandson of Thomas Jefferson. Recently Randolph has gained the reputation of being tied up in Klan affairs, the report having gained wide circulation that he is a member of the klondike. This he has denied since he

Income of City Parks Is Almost Paying Expenses

Swimming Pools, Golf Links and Tennis Courts Are Prosperous.

A total income of $11,000 for the park department during the month of June established a new record for the department and came within $3,800 of paying the entire pro rata expenses of the department for the month. It was announced Monday by Councilman James L. Wells, chairman of the park committee.

The tremendous increase in receipts, which had been $1,724 in May, was due to opening of the swimming pools and tennis courts and to the largely increased patronage for all park recreations over patronage of last year.

A new source of income was from tennis courts, for which a fee was charged this year for the first time. Piedmont park courts turned in $516.30 to the city treasury and Grant park turned in $233.40.

Swimming pool fees of 10 cents for

DELEGATES LEASH TEMPER AS PULL FOR VOTES COMES

John W. Davis Seems To Hold Somewhat Similar Position to That of Wilson at Baltimore.

RALSTON WAS HURT IN FIGHT ON KLAN

Great Leadership of Bryan and Kremer Get Credit for Early Cohesion of McAdoo Cohorts.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON.

Convention Hall, New York, June 30.—(Special.)—As the balloting proceeds tonight with the delegates in an increasingly ugly spirit and 15,000 people in the galleries inclined to be noisy for Smith, the history of the Baltimore convention of 1912 is gradually repeating itself.

Concentrations have not seriously begun yet and the McAdoo friends in the pit can feel out quite a number of votes yet, while the Smith leaders can anticipate but few heavy accretions after the fifteenth ballot without some unexpected breaks that are not written in the cards. In the meantime, John W. Davis, of West Virginia, is picking up a vote here and there just as Woodrow Wilson did in 1912, while Champ Clark was playing around the majority.

Favorites Sons Linger On.

Favorites sons of formidable promises and those who have no promises are lingering in the picture in the hopes of their managers that when the inevitable breaks from the candidate leaders come their strategic positions may put them in the race.

The McAdoo contingent is militant tonight and is accepting every opportunity to create psychological demonstrations. Both Klan and Anti-Saloon leaders of America are personally on the floor throwing all of their force that is practicable for McAdoo. The pressure for him has started and in the desperation of the hour, McAdoo generals are displaying great leadership, especially William J. Bryan and Bruce Kremer.

Ralston Is Casualty.

Three more experienced political warriors never held command over the forces of a candidate in a national convention and it is through their matchless work that the standard of the McAdoo army is kept aloft, and the firing line kept unbroken. Mr. McAdoo himself, from his rooms in the Vanderbilt, is in unbroken conference with his generals on the floor. It is an intense scene, the artillery is heavy and a more desperate battle than the one now progressing was never waged in a convention pit.

The practical elimination of Senator Ralston, who has been the second dark horse favorite for a week, was brought about by the bitter fight of Saturday. Indiana being, it is alleged, a Klan-infested state, the word went out that Senator Ralston was too friendly with that organization, and though this was vigorously denied, the stamp, just or unjust, was pressed upon him. He became a casualty of that fight. Otherwise he would have been nominated here tonight.

MINOR CANDIDATES BELIEVE LEADERS KILL EACH OTHER

McAdoo Gained 471-2 Votes in 12 Hours' Balloting—Smith Picked Up 64 1-2 Votes.

PROLONGED BATTLE FORECAST BY RESULTS

Speculation on Probable Nominee Futile—It All Depends on Compromise Plan Among Leaders.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Madison Square Garden, New York, June 30.—Gripped in a vice-like deadlock, the democratic national convention plowed its way wearily through 15 ballots Monday, adjourning with McAdoo well in the lead, Al Smith second; John W. Davis, third; James M. Cox, fourth; Senator Oscar Underwood, fifth; Senator Ralston, sixth; and Carter Glass, seventh.

In addition there was a field of scattered votes for favorite sons who seem now to be out of the running. After the fifteenth ballot McAdoo forces, through Bruce Kramer, of Montana, moved adjournment until 9:30 Tuesday morning. This motion carried and at 11:05 eastern standard time the session broke up with the democratic presidential nomination still anybody's prize.

McAdoo Gained 47 1-2 Votes.

McAdoo wound up with 479 votes, which is 47 1-2 more than he started with, and 173 1-2 ahead of Smith, his nearest rival. Smith gained 64 1-2 votes in the balloting, finishing with 305 1-2. The standing of the other major candidates on the first and fifteenth ballots was as follows:

First ballot, Cox, 59, fifteenth, 60; Davis, first, 31, fifteenth, 61; Glass, first, 25, fifteenth, 25; Ralston, first, 30, fifteenth, 31; Robinson, first, 21, fifteenth, 20; Underwood, first, 41 1-2, fifteenth, 39 1-2.

Both McAdoo and Smith have considerable blocks of votes in reserve which they will feed out when the fight is resumed Tuesday. But the tenacity with which the possible compromise candidates like Davis, Ralston, Cox and Glass are holding on to their little hands of faithful, is highly significant.

Laggards Believe in Breaks.

It is obvious that all of these minor candidates believe Smith and McAdoo are killing each other off by inches and that when they have been worn down, a break will come. Each hopes the lightning will strike him. One of the remarkable things about the balloting is the inability of any of the minor candidates except John

On the basis of the first 15 ballots, speculation as to the probable nominees is futile. Everything depends upon whom the deadlocked leaders are willing to compromise on. The extremely tight balloting Monday foretold a prolonged convention. The delegates, however, are willing to break a deadlock which is always possible. This latter contingency is made more possible by the fact that the convention was tied up so long over the platform row.

Many Pockets Light.
Monday night finished the first week of the convention and many of the delegates who must pay their own expenses are finding their pockets lighter every day.

The financial drain of living in New York under convention conditions and the heat and the natural desire of many delegates to get back to their home affairs, are all factors that may force a break sooner than would ordinarily be expected.

Governor Al Smith left the Manhattan club just after receiving news of the 15th ballot and declared he was very much satisfied with the showing he had made.

"It will be a hard fight," David J. Rockwell, McAdoo's manager, conceded after the close of the balloting, but he predicted Tuesday's voting would bring further gains to the Californian when the favorite sons began to drop out.

"A minority will not be allowed to control the convention," Rockwell said.

Break Predicted by Both.
Norman E. Mack, one of the Smith managers, claimed McAdoo had about reached the limit of his strength. "Important changes" would come after the close of the balloting, he estimated the break which would put McAdoo over will come. He declined to discuss the question of a possible attempt by the McAdoo leaders to break the two-thirds rule.

He did not know whether it was possible to kill the rule by a mere majority vote. His opponents insist that it would require a two-thirds vote to break the two-thirds rule.

FIRST DAY'S BALLOTS.
VOID OF RESULTS.
Madison Square Garden, New York, June 30.—Through 15 ballots the democratic national convention had worked tonight without finding a nominee.

The total effect of the balloting had been to increase the totals of McAdoo, Smith and John W. Davis. It failed to bring either of the leaders, Smith and McAdoo, within striking distance.

Totals of the leaders on the 15th ballot were: McAdoo, 470; Smith, 305.5; John W. Davis, 61.

New Clerk Tries Job.
A fresh reading clerk tackled the 15th ballot and unnumbered a fresh set of vocal cords on the convention. Even he couldn't get through the roar and rumble of 2,000 delegates and alternates and 33,000 visitors talking it over among themselves.

Once more Chairman Walsh took a chance on the light-headed gavel and banged for order. He looked at the instrument as if he expected it to go off. The head stayed in all the chairman got quiet and a chance to sit down without having risked anybody's life.

On the 15th ballot, Colorado made change which added 2 1/2 to McAdoo, John W. Davis lost 2 1/2 and Smith lost 1. Then the roll call went along with responses now becoming so familiar that they were known before they were spoken and recorded before they actually were given.

Michigan made a little change, giving one to McAdoo, which it took from John W. Davis.

From Michigan onward the roll call ran without any slides of bandwagon movements.

At the conclusion of the announcement of the 15th ballot, Chairman Kremer, of the Montana delegation, a McAdoo floor leader, moved an adjournment until 10:30 tomorrow morning. The convention didn't even wait for the motion to be put and carried. It merely piled out while it was being done. The band struck up "Home, Sweet Home" and the convention hall was emptied quicker than it would have been if a troupe of the elephants which often sojourn there had suddenly cut loose.

Changes Today Predicted.
Some changes were predicted for tomorrow's balloting. Whether there would be a nomination or not was anybody's guess.

One politician remarked: "The ice is twelve inches thick; there isn't a crack in the convention. Everybody is waiting for the motion to be put and carried. It merely piled out while it was being done. The band struck up 'Home, Sweet Home' and the convention hall was emptied quicker than it would have been if a troupe of the elephants which often sojourn there had suddenly cut loose."

Madison Square Garden, New York, June 30.—The thirteenth ballot in the democratic national convention turned out to be no jinx for any candidate. Everybody moved with extra caution, disclaiming superstition and the fateful number was passed without casualties to anybody. It left the leaders little changed—McAdoo still forging toward the 500 mark and Smith running up behind him around the 300 mark.

The McAdoo men had set their goal at 500 for tonight, after which they proposed to ask for an adjournment.

The 13th ballot over and the reading clerk much worn out, the chief clerk, P. J. Haltigan, produced a new barker to call off the names. He made an immediate hit with the southern side of the convention by calling it "Call-Phoria."

The first change in the 14th was in Colorado where McAdoo lost 1 and John W. Davis took it away from him.

The gentleman in the speaker's box had a little difficulty with his speech. He made it "Indiana" and got the usual 30 for Ralston, but when he made it "Iowa," a delegate gave it back to him "Iowa" with the usual 26 for McAdoo.

Who is Roland Grebe?
"I don't know," responded the chairman of the Michigan delegation in the democratic national convention. Nevertheless, the clerk records one vote east from Michigan for Grebe for president.

Grebe Is Unidentified.
Consequently, Mr. Grebe takes his place among the list of those who have received complimentary votes in national political conventions without conducting political campaigns.

Michigan contributed some minor changes. Smith gained 1 1/2; McAdoo 1-2 and John W. Davis lost 1. In Nebraska, McAdoo lost 1, which went back to Governor Charles W. Bryan.

The announcer finally identified himself. He was a Smith man. Every time a delegation announced votes for Governor Smith, the announcer made it "Al Smith."

At the close of the 13th ballot, the leaders stood: McAdoo, 477; Smith, 303.5; John W. Davis, 64.5.

That was a loss of 1.5 for McAdoo and a gain of 2.2 for Smith. John W. Davis gained 4.5.

The first bad luck struck McAdoo in Arizona he lost one to John W.

to about 200. Neither candidate has revealed his full strength yet. Whether the break that will decide the nomination will come Tuesday will depend upon the progress made in these conferences. Unless the temper of the leaders changes over night, however, the prospect is for prolonged balloting again Tuesday.

The democratic national convention began balloting at 10:41 a. m. today for a nominee for the presidency.

"Clock in the Afternoon"

In all parts of the world where people have learned best how to live, there are special little pauses for moments of ease.

Pleasing examples in the art of living

Englishmen everywhere observe tea time. The custom is followed in Canada.

Typifying the universal appeal of French life is the Cafe de la Paix, where Parisians, joined by tourists, take respites to sit at tables and "see the world go by."

Much of the charm of the Corso, the great street of Rome, is the relaxation that punctuates the afternoon.

Afternoon pauses for small cups of Turkish coffee at Shepherd's Hotel, Cairo, are colorful occasions well remembered by those who have participated.

The Swiss, with their cozy chalets, stop for their cup of chocolate.

In Rio de Janeiro there are appointed times at cheerful places for coffee or ices.

World-wide enjoyment of the mid-afternoon pause

And so it is the world over where the best examples in the art of living are set.

Everywhere one of the most refreshing of moments is the mid-afternoon pause for a beverage.

Here in America we have less leisure. We live in a business rush. Our playtime is limited. Often we can spare but a minute.

Yet, we too respond to an afternoon pause.

Thirst is a signal for it. And developed to meet our needs with quick, good service are soda fountains—cool, inviting places that are an example being followed by Europe.

Refreshment stands, convenient when we are out in crowds and within easy reach of offices and factories. Then restaurants, hotels and clubs, and also grocery stores that provide for such moments in homes.

A delightful new angle to an old idea

Yes—hundreds of places in every city and town inviting you to pause and enjoy Coca-Cola—an inimitable blend of pure products from nature, ice-cold, delicious to taste and wholesomely refreshing.

We borrowed from the Old World the idea of the afternoon pause for refreshment.

We have made it conveniently brief to suit other hours of the day.

Wholesome refreshment for a busy world

And in return we have given an American beverage that today is enjoyed over the world—

In Europe, England, Canada, Cuba, Mexico, Panama, South America, Hawaiian Islands, Porto Rico, Australia, New Zealand, Japan, and the Orient.

Pause—in office or workshop, at home or when shopping, or when it's your good luck to be out at play—and Refresh Yourself with Coca-Cola—five cents.

It was stated that the anticipated increase in tax receipts would not be relied upon to take the place of emergency levy of one mill to be levied for the school department. The one-mill levy will be submitted as a vote of the people sometime in September, before the full result of the election on tax levies can be known.

It was stated that the city will be more systematic and more thorough in any other the city has ever conducted. Salaries of the special investigators will be paid out of a special fund provided by council in the finance sheet.

HAPEVILLE POLICE HEAD IS ARRESTED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

R. E. Jackson, chief of police of Hapeville, is under $100 bond, charged with violation of the state prohibition law, as a result of a raid Sunday at his boarding place, 235 South

Prior street, where county police claim to have found a pint bottle of cognac whisky.

At the hearing Monday before Recorder Pro Tem A. W. Callaway, Jackson stated that the whisky was part of a supply obtained in pursuance of his official duties, which he had not had time to transfer to his office, where it was to have been held as evidence.

PRETTY WOMAN SMILES AS SHE GIVES DETAILS OF KILLING IN HOME

Declares She and Family Were Almost Driven Out of House and She Made Up Her Mind to Put A Stop To It.

"You never saw anything like it," smilingly stated a dainty young woman in describing the killing in her home. "Five minutes after I started the entire floor seemed covered with them—all dead as a doornail. Then I called the cook to sweep them out."

"You'd smile, too," she explained to the astonished reporter, "if you had a house full of mosquitoes, flies and roaches that seemed to get fat and fatter on everything you used to get rid of them—and then to find that Fly-Flu killed them so quickly they didn't know what hit them."

You won't want to be almost driven out of your house by filthy, disease laden, germ breeding insects. Get a bottle of Fly-Flu. Spray it all around—in every room, in the garbage pail, the sink; in the crevices and cracks and you will not only get the flies, but fleas, roaches, moths, water bugs and all other insect pests that may be hiding there. Fly-Flu is instant, sure death to the vermin.

Fly-Flu is a deodorant—absolutely harmless to humans or plants and cannot stain. Price 50c for a large bottle of Fly-Flu with handy sprayer free at drug stores, grocers and other retail stores. —(adv.)

GEORGIA JUDGES MEET HERE TODAY

Rules of practice in the superior courts will undergo rigid analysis at a meeting of Georgia superior court judges in Judge W. D. Ellis' courtroom today.

The meeting, which will last two days, was called by Judge Z. A. Littlejohn, of Americus, dean of superior court judges in this state, and is the first held in ten years.

Under the law of Georgia the judges of the superior courts fix the rules of practice in that court, having full discretion in matters not determined by law.

The visiting judges, with the judges of the Georgia supreme court and court of appeals will be entertained at a banquet at the Biltmore hotel Wednesday night by the Atlanta Bar association.

CEMETERY CASE GOES TO COURT OF APPEALS

The certificate of Judge E. D. Thomas to the bill of exceptions in the litigation filed by the city of Atlanta and property owners of Oak Grove district to enjoin establishment of a cemetery there by County Commissioners C. G. Turner, O. E. Edgeridge and associates, took the case to the court of appeals Monday, from the superior court.

Two weeks ago Judge Thomas granted an injunction prohibiting establishment of the cemetery on the ground that Commissioner Turner, who voted at the county board meeting which granted the permit to establish the cemetery, was personally interested in the project. It is this action of Judge Thomas that goes up for review. Former Mayor J. L. Key filed the appeal for the defendants.

Lakewood Park Takes on Gala Dress for July 4

With preparations practically complete for the greatest Fourth of July holiday program in the history of Lakewood, the beautiful park has undergone numerous startling changes and has assumed the holiday atmosphere already.

The elaborate program calls for the greatest display of fireworks ever witnessed in Atlanta, auto racing and horse racing, interspersed with many other distinctive features of entertainment for the grand old Fourth. Special street car schedules have been arranged to take Atlantans to the popular park, while many hundreds of pleasure-lovers from many sections of the southeast are expected to take advantage of special reduced rates to and from this city to attend festivities here.

"We are aping nothing," R. M. Striplin, secretary, stated Monday, "to make Lakewood the mecca for thousands of Atlantans and others who appreciate wholesome entertainment and the advantage of the great outdoors for the annual Fourth of July celebration. We are going to make it a day long to be remembered."

Lakewood park for many years past has been the scene of elaborate Fourth of July celebrations, and in years gone by thousands have attended regularly. This year, with new entertainment features, greater expenditure of money for holiday attractions and the easy access to the park is expected to break all former attendance records.

Once inside the spacious park grounds there is everything from red lemonade to movies; from peanuts and popcorn to sumptuous dinners; from the lowly park swing to the whirling ferria wheels—everything for the kids and grown-ups.

"It will put this form of the transportation business on a regular, established, fair basis," he said. "It will bring about a condition in which the busses may operate profitably and regularly, without injurious competition, and it will give the public the service to which it is entitled. At the same time it will provide reasonable fares and adequate compensation in case of accident."

Mr. Anderson pointed out that there is now no regulation or supervision of any character over the bus lines and, with the growing popularity of this means of travel, the public, he declared, is entitled to protection which is now totally lacking.

The bill was originated by his association, said Mr. Anderson, with the object of bringing about stable conditions in the industry so that it may expand and prosper.

"It seems to me," he concluded, "significant that the opposition to this measure comes from the same organization which fought bitterly in Atlanta against jitney busses being required to post a small bond of $5,000 for indemnification of persons injured in jitney bus accidents in this city."

The bill pending in the house, which is Senate Bill 40, provides for all of the highly necessary conditions of service and is squarely in accord with the most enlightened business methods, said Mr. Anderson. Mr. Anderson refused charges made recently, that this bill was not written primarily for the interest of

MRS. WESTMORELAND LAID TO REST TODAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Edith Theobald Westmoreland, wife of Lieutenant Colonel Wade H. Westmoreland, who died late Saturday at a private hospital here, will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the chapel of Barclay & Brandon, with Rev. M. Ashby Jones officiating. Interment will be in Clarkston.

Pallbearers will be E. H. Jordan, O. G. Cheatham, John Westmoreland, Tom Jolly, Clem Jolly and Ben Roberts.

Mrs. Westmoreland, who was 43 years old, was born at Magnolia Springs, Ala., and moved to Atlanta when a small girl, receiving her education in this city. At the age of 20 she made a trip to the Philippine Islands, where she married Lieutenant Colonel Westmoreland. After a stay of three years in the Philippines she returned to this country with her husband, making her home in various parts of the United States.

During the war Colonel and Mrs. Westmoreland were stationed at Camp Gordon. Following the war they moved to Indianapolis, where they resided when Colonel Westmoreland was retired.

In addition to her husband, Colonel Westmoreland, she is survived by three sons, Henrich, Jesse and Theobald Westmoreland; her father, W. M. Theobald; four brothers, Dr. W. M. J. C. M. C. and M. A. Theobald, and a sister, Miss Frances Theobald.

POLICE HUNTING NEGRO WHO ROBBED FILLING STATION

Police are searching for the unidentified negro who Sunday night held up R. M. Crawley, manager of the filling station at Boulevard and Houston streets, and robbed him of $150 as he was leaving the station for his home, 68 LaFayette street.

He closed the door, Crawley told Officers Bullard and Hornsby, the negro jumped out from behind a brick pillar, and took his money at the point of a pistol.

Another burglary in the fashionable residential section was reported Sunday night, when thieves entered the house of J. E. Faw, 22 Orme Circle, during the absence of the family, and stole $12 in cash and jewelry.

BEGIN JUNKING ROME RAILROAD

Constitution Bureau.
Masonic Temple Annex, Phone 1069.
Rome, Ga., June 30.—(Special).—Scrapping of the Rome & Northern railroad has begun under a permit granted by the interstate commerce commission. Owners found it impossible to continue its operation. The property was bought at a receiver's sale several months ago. Owners made an effort to save it, but failed and it was decided to scrap the road and stop losses sustained in operation.

Weller and company, of Birmingham, are purchasers. Present owners will hold possession of the right of way.
Willingham Is Named.
Rome, Ga., June 30.—(Special).—O. Willingham, former president of the Rome Clearing House association, has been appointed as a member of the executive committee of the Presidents' club, H. H. Skelton has announced. The executive committee is composed of ex-presidents of civic or business organizations.

Robert Andrews Service.

Rome, Ga., June 30.—(Special).—Funeral services for Robert B. Andrews, who died at his home here Sunday, after a long illness, were held from the North Broad Baptist church this afternoon. Interment was at Myrtle Hill cemetery.

Mr. Andrews was born in Dawson county, moving to Rome 10 years ago from Gordon county.

He is survived by his widow and seven children.

Rome Legion Calls Meet.

Rome, Ga., June 30.—(Special).—On Sunday, July 13, 2,000 ex-service men are expected to assemble here for instructions on filling out their applications for the insurance bonus recently granted by congress.

Shanklin-Attaway post, requested by the veterans' bureau to represent the government, has accepted the task not only for Floyd county, but for all ex-service men in this part of the state.

Soldiers, sailors and marines from all counties in northwest Georgia are invited to come to Rome to obtain complete information and file their application blanks. The meeting will be held at the Municipal auditorium at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

MISTAH SPEAKAH

BY RALPH T. JONES.

Mistah Speakah—

Point of personal privilege—

May we point out that if members would refrain from leaving their seats and occupying the limited space provided at the press table the speaker's life and limb would not be in such imminent danger when he has to hurry to make his famous bows as the day's session ends?

Considerable doubt was felt as to the veracity of the gentleman speaking when this belated commentator entered the house at about 11:30 o'clock Monday morning. For the first words heard were "I think"

Representative Hal Wimberly has introduced a bill which savors, at first glance, of much wisdom. It is the bill to prohibit introduction of new bills after the first 30 days of the session. If it can be passed and held constitutional the "astute lawyer from Laurens" will be credited with a splendid reform, probably.

Having noted that one of the biggest factors in delaying the work of committees is the habit of some members of arriving late and then insisting that they be told all that has happened prior to their coming, wouldn't it be wise suggestion to forbid all committee members to take part in discussions of bills before the committee which came up before they reached their seats; that is, after a quorum has once been secured? In other words no entrances between acts!

Mistah Speakah—

Having accomplished little or nothing—

Let's dissolve the quorum and adjourn.

NEW HOUSE BILLS

By Representative Bowden, of McDuffie—To provide a method of arriving at value of farm lands. General agricultural No. 2.

By Representative Milner, of Dodge and others—To appropriate $45,000 to supply a deficiency in maintenance of Georgia Tech. Appropriations.

By Representative Wimberly, of Toombs—To investigate the public service commission. State of republic.

Forecaster Sees Cooler Weather; Showers Likely

Sing a song of six pence
And drink the pocket dry,
Drink it to the weatherman
For he's a good old guy.

The rollicking tune filled the banquet hall, at one end of which the weather prophet sat on a raised dais, smiling happily through half closed eyes.

Through the curling smoke of the good cigars he glimpsed the events of the turbid days just past. He had been nominated for the vice presidency; he had narrowly missed being the fated guest at an al fresco cravat party; he had tasted the cream and the dregs of life.

Now, on the evening of the last day of June, he was being honored by the golf club in celebration of the first day that the temperature had failed to break 84.

"If I hadn't aliced one thunder-shower and booked a stiff breeze I believe I could have made the round in 80," he confided to the toastmaster. "I would almost lay a ball a hole that I will go round in an even 80 today and with fair weather at that," he continued. "With thundershowers I may even break 80."

The weatherman's worst score of the month had been a 93 in the shade last week.

"PERFECT PACKAGE MONTH" WORKERS PLANNING DINNER

As a feature of the "Perfect Package Month" campaign being put on by the freight-claim prevention section of the American Railway association, local freight agents will hold a dinner-meeting at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday night at the chamber of commerce.

"Before freight claims can be reduced to a minimum, there must be maximum cooperation of packers, shippers and carriers," it was pointed out by C. G. Walker, agent of the Southern railway, and chairman of the committee on arrangements. For this reason, the committee will invite to this dinner representatives from each of these three classes of freight handlers. Speakers from each party will present their side of the question, so that a better understanding can be effected.

Members of the committee sponsoring the "perfect package" dinner are: C. G. Walker, Southern railway, chairman; W. N. Hicks, Atlanta Joint Terminals; H. W. Cantrell, Seaboard Air Line railway; J. C. Gleson, Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railway; and J. A. Craig, Atlanta & West Point railway. B. S. Barker, secretary of the chamber of commerce, is cooperating by sending invitations to local shippers.

POWER COMPANY PLANNING TO AID ATLANTA EXHIBIT

As the first step in the movement to present an Atlanta exhibit in the Georgia section of the great Southern industrial exposition, it became known Monday that the Georgia Railway and Power company has already reserved space for an exhibit, and will co-operate to the utmost in the effort to win for Georgia the prize offered for the best state exhibit.

The exposition, which is to be held in the Grand Central palace, New York, January 3-14, will feature every angle of the south's industrial life, and will bring to the attention of the whole country this section's remarkable progress in recent years, as well as the vast opportunity for still greater advances. The show is being promoted by local chambers of commerce. With eleven southern states already entered, its success is assured.

The Manufacturers' Record has offered as a prize for the best state exhibit $5,000 worth of advertising in its columns. Atlanta has decided to arrange an exhibit of its own in the area allotted to Georgia. Savannah, Macon and Columbia already have signified their intentions of doing so.

TEN-CENT QUARREL LEADS TO SHOOTING

One negro, Ed Moore, is dead; and another, Will Bryant, is being sought for the murder of a result of an argument over 10 cents, started while the two and some of their friends were shooting dice at Bryant's home on Chippell street Thursday evening. Bryant is said to have grown suddenly angry in a dispute with Moore, pulling out a pistol and shooting Moore three or four times. One bullet struck Moore in the head and he died on the way to Grady hospital.

TECH HIGH BOYS BEGIN LONG HIKE

Two Tech High boys, Richard McConnell, cadet major last year at Tech High school and a member of the football team, and Herbert Amason, a corporal in the Tech High unit, left Atlanta Monday morning on the first leg of the 120-mile hike to Aniston, Ala., where they intend to enter the Citizens Military Training camp. Both boys will be in camp throughout its four weeks' duration.

CITY GAS AND OIL CONTRACT IS WON BY PAN-AMERICAN

Contract for all gas and oil to be used by the city of Atlanta during the next six months was awarded to the Pan-American Oil company by the purchasing committee of council in special session Monday afternoon.

Pan-American was the lowest of several bidders.

The new contract marks a departure from the city's former method of purchasing gasoline and oil, which heretofore has been on a monthly basis.

Pan-American held the contract for two months this year and the Woodford Oil company during the last three months.

The city consumes nearly 20,000 gallons of gasoline each month in operating automobiles and trucks used by all departments.

Other bidders Monday were the Gulf Refining company, Standard Oil company, Woodford Oil company, Reed Oil company, Texas Oil company and National Oil company.

Christopher Columbus map, believed to be one that inspired his epoch-making voyage, was recently found in the National Library in Paris.

AN INTRODUCTION

The General Manager of the newly opened and newly equipped Chamber of Commerce Cafe is no stranger in Atlanta. He was for six years Catering Manager of the Piedmont Hotel and is well remembered for the many novelties he introduced and the excellence of his food during his stay at the Piedmont from 1908 to 1914, and like others before him, Mr. Fischel tells why he returned to Atlanta.

There is an old saying: "If you once lived in Atlanta, you will return sooner or later, because there is something romantic about Atlanta, something we from the cold-blooded North cannot withstand; Georgia is no richer in traditions than Illinois or New York, but its tradition is softer, sweeter, its climate is balmy, its commercialism is not so vividly pronounced and its accent is more sibilant and melodious; it has a charm that cuddles to the heart and gently works its seductive way into the soul."

That Is Why I am Back in Atlanta

The Chamber of Commerce Cafe will be open from 11 A. M. to 8:30 P. M. Our prices will be moderate, we will serve Plate Lunches, a la carte, table d'hote, a variety of salads, sandwiches, etc., and in the Assembly Rooms on the first and second floors will cater to the needs of Atlanta's Civic Organizations for lunches, dinners, etc.

Equipped with the most modern Electric Baking Oven we will serve Hot Rolls, Corn Bread, Muffins, Biscuits, Pones, etc., fresh from the oven every 15 minutes during meals.

We will also specialize on the finest Pies, Cakes, etc.

We assure you of
The Very Best Food

BE KINDLY AFFECTIONED
one to another with brotherly love; in honor preferring one another; responsive to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men. Let us overcome evil with good. —Romans 12:10, 17, 21.

DEMOCRACY VICTORIOUS.
The "corpse of Liberty" over which Signor Mussolini marched to Rome at the head of his blackshirt legions, has come back to life. The dictator of Italy, seemingly secure in his almost autocratic power, learned that apparently insignificant events may take such a sudden turn that governments thought as firm as citadels of old totter and crumble to the ground in one hour.

had in his possession evidence of graft against high officials of the government.

What brought it about is of lesser importance. It was bound to come, as inevitable as sunshine after rain. Premier Herriot, of France, upon taking office said about the Italian situation: "We know that the time will come when Signor Mussolini will have to abandon his childish imperialism and listen to the voice of the people."

In normal times there is no place for a dictatorship. Neither of the left nor of the right. Government must be by the people for all the people. Americans know best the meaning of this democratic thesis of government. In this country no dictatorship would be tolerated for a single day, neither by the extreme radicals, nor in fact, by the bankers and big industrialists. Though all patriotically-minded citizens would not hesitate to curb their own rights and privileges in times of national danger or when confronted by a common menace.

PASSING OF POWDERLY.
The recent passing of Terence V. Powderly, at his home in Washington, at the age of 76, brings to mind the remarkable and even picturesque career of a labor leader of the 80's and 90's who was even more in the public eye at the time than Samuel Gompers is today.

Powderly was the son of an Irish immigrant of Pennsylvania, who was a day laborer with a wife and twelve children to support. This was no easy task with the low wages of the time, and Terence, the boy of 13, had to stop school and go to work to help keep the others of the family from the want of food and clothing necessities. His job was that of a switch tender. He studied nights, as he worked by day, and became a mechanical engineer of some repute. Then the law obsessed him and he mastered this as nearly as any young man of his opportunities could. Before he had attained his majority he became interested in labor organizations.

At the time labor organizations were largely secret. There was a reason then, for industrial employers frowned upon them and workers feared losing their positions. The Knights of Labor, founded in 1869, was a secret organization until 1882. It was this secrecy, this working under cover through timidity, which can scarcely be criticized now when one appraises the employing situation of that day, that gave Powderly the opportunity to become a great labor leader and to become famous in that respect. He believed in a larger and more liberal organization. He was a member of the Knights and saw the vision of a more powerful and a more courageous organization not confined necessarily to wage earners, but to those who believed in the principles advocated by the Knights. But his plans failed him through the injection of politics, which has destroyed so many otherwise good and well-purposed organizations. The ambitions, selfishness and misguided pursuits of personal favors on the part of aspiring members, who used the organization as a machine, tore it to pieces. Powderly, personally, did the best he could. He abhorred strikes, but strike after strike, beginning with the Missouri Pacific strike of 1886, followed by sharp internal quarrels, helped the political influences within to destroy the organization. The Knights of Labor, however, had made Powderly famous. It had put him in the public limelight. It had turned the eyes of the nation upon the first great and powerful leader of organized labor in this country.

Following this, Powderly, an Irish republican, which is out of the ordinary, became a stump-speaker for his national party, and President McKinley rewarded him with the post of commissioner general of immigration. He was removed by Roosevelt, but held other less important offices until he gradually faded out of the national picture. And now he is gone.

ALWAYS ON THE JOB.
The little labor-saving want ad never takes a vacation.

It works straight through summer as in winter, and makes business right along.

It does the shopping for the folks who fail to "catch the Sun in bed" these drowsy summer mornings.

It brings the business to the home door.

It's the little, but lively, one of every business community.

Perhaps the only objection to it—so far as recorded—was that of the man who advertised for one wife and got six.

And that was merely an additional demonstration of the efficiency of the little want ad.

It crowds the columns of the standard daily and weekly newspapers the world over.

It is one of the great dependable of the many-featured, advertising business world.

It is always "on the job."

What has become of the old-fashioned hitching post, once the adornment of every well-regulated front yard? queries an exchange. The said post has been removed to make room for the garage man to crawl under the family car looking for a dead mouse.

An extraordinary occurrence brought about his removal and removal of policy. In his case it was a crisis developed over the kidnapping of a deputy, who was Dominion Day.

Today Canada commemorates the day when some British colonies were united in one great confederation of provinces under the name of Dominion. Stretching from Atlantic to Pacific, the proudest gem in the diadem of Imperial Britain, this great and prosperous nation is no longer a colony, but a self-governing independent member of that miniature league of nations, the British empire. In Canada the two greatest races of the world, the French and English, have combined with touch and magnificent singleness of purpose to create one great, prosperous and indivisible nation. On the field of battle her sons by their sublime sacrifices have gained their motherland a deserved place in the sun. Indeed, with the ideals of free people, she has risen as a great power on the North American continent, allied with indissoluble ties of blood and democracy with the United States. On the three thousand miles of frontier there is not a soldier, not a gun and not a fort. The world's example of peace and brotherly cooperation among nations. May the provinces of Canada continue to grow as one mighty force and find peace along their borders. Her kith and kin, the United States of America.

Playing the Game
Of Louis Napoleon.
At the International labor conference held in Geneva last week, the socialist delegates from different countries combined in denouncing fascism in Italy and the murder of Signor Matteotti. Comrade Oudegeest from Holland called the blackshirts, "those brigands of Rome," and Leon Jouhaux, of France, accused Mussolini of playing the game of Napoleon III. Of course, the socialist can't forgive Mussolini his drastic measures, baseball bats and cannon fire, which he employed in downing the ugly monster of red communism, when it reared its head in the northern Italian cities just after the war. But as to playing the game of Napoleon III, that is a dangerous pastime. Mussolini may fall like Napoleon III, but he ought to be guided by history. The lesson of the little Napoleon III, a playing with thunderbolts, which "smote him in the back at Sedan." The ghost of Caesar may be beckoning the dictator of Italy today, but Napoleon III, Brutus and Cassius when he was within grasping distance of the imperial purple.

Overthrowing the Bolsheviks.
July 8 has been set by the royalists of Russia for a general uprising. General Wrangel's soldiers in Bulgaria and Macedonia are to attack the soviet army. General Wrangel, the Russian general, is to invade the Far Eastern soviet republic of Siberia. Grand Duke Nicholas, uncle of the czar, was selected as supreme commander of the royalist movement. Nicholas is to be dictator when the soviets are overthrown until the time when a monarch will mount the throne. This news is good news to the bolsheviks. They were having some trouble with the peasants lately, worried as they were by the peasants of the Kazan and Baturin regions. But now they will be able to draw all sections of the nation around them. In the face of existing famine, the bolsheviks are students of history. Moreover the peasants are not greatly in favor of the return of the Romanoffs under any form. They remember the rule of the Romanoffs as a time of oppression and blood. A Man's Man
For a That.
Some American newspaper writers have wondered at the action of Premier Ramsay MacDonald in backing up General Cummings, British chargé d'affaires in Mexico City. They say the British premier knew that his representative was persona non grata with the Mexican authorities and he still persisted in upholding Mr. Cummings. The truth of the matter is that Mr. Cummings was doing a real man's work in defending the woman of the world, the American citizen, against the insults, depredations and confiscation of her property by a band of communists in Mexico. Cummings proved himself of the lion's breed. He faced the situation alone and Premier MacDonald upheld him. Cummings did not leave Mexico until he was assured that the American citizen's widow would have justice. There is nothing ridiculous about Premier MacDonald's stand in this case. The newspaper writers referred to may not agree with Mr. MacDonald's labor policy, but they will not deny that he has a fine sense of justice and is a MAN WHO DARES TO STAND UP FOR HIS CONVICTIONS.

Germany's "Black Army."
Dr. E. I. Gumbel, able German mathematician and London school teacher, writes the London Daily Mail about Germany's secret armaments through a so-called "black army" that is "being trained on a parallel with the most famous army and made up of the shoot of the regular forces." That the doctor was telling the truth in his letters is evident from recent events. He was thrown into prison on the charge of high treason. Germany has not disarmed mentally nor physically it seems. The conciliatory attitude of the new French premier, Herriot, "called a magnificent gesture of one democracy to another," has left them unconvinced at heart. The production of howitzers in Europe and in the German army are the leaders. Sixty-five per cent of all the tourists in Italy this year are Germans. They occupy the most luxurious hotels and the newspapers of Holland and Denmark are complaining about the high prices offered by German buyers in their countries, driving the cost of living into the clouds.

Playing the Game
Of Louis Napoleon.
At the International labor conference held in Geneva last week, the socialist delegates from different countries combined in denouncing fascism in Italy and the murder of Signor Matteotti. Comrade Oudegeest from Holland called the blackshirts, "those brigands of Rome," and Leon Jouhaux, of France, accused Mussolini of playing the game of Napoleon III. Of course, the socialist can't forgive Mussolini his drastic measures, baseball bats and cannon fire, which he employed in downing the ugly monster of red communism, when it reared its head in the northern Italian cities just after the war. But as to playing the game of Napoleon III, that is a dangerous pastime. Mussolini may fall like Napoleon III, but he ought to be guided by history. The lesson of the little Napoleon III, a playing with thunderbolts, which "smote him in the back at Sedan." The ghost of Caesar may be beckoning the dictator of Italy today, but Napoleon III, Brutus and Cassius when he was within grasping distance of the imperial purple.

Overthrowing the Bolsheviks.
July 8 has been set by the royalists of Russia for a general uprising. General Wrangel's soldiers in Bulgaria and Macedonia are to attack the soviet army. General Wrangel, the Russian general, is to invade the Far Eastern soviet republic of Siberia. Grand Duke Nicholas, uncle of the czar, was selected as supreme commander of the royalist movement. Nicholas is to be dictator when the soviets are overthrown until the time when a monarch will mount the throne. This news is good news to the bolsheviks. They were having some trouble with the peasants lately, worried as they were by the peasants of the Kazan and Baturin regions. But now they will be able to draw all sections of the nation around them. In the face of existing famine, the bolsheviks are students of history. Moreover the peasants are not greatly in favor of the return of the Romanoffs under any form. They remember the rule of the Romanoffs as a time of oppression and blood. Dominion Day.
Today Canada commemorates the day when some British colonies were united in one great confederation of provinces under the name of Dominion. Stretching from Atlantic to Pacific, the proudest gem in the diadem of Imperial Britain, this great and prosperous nation is no longer a colony, but a self-governing independent member of that miniature league of nations, the British empire. In Canada the two greatest races of the world, the French and English, have combined with touch and magnificent singleness of purpose to create one great, prosperous and indivisible nation. Fall, Sinclair and Dohenys Indicted Upon Four Counts

First Two Involve Alleged Conspiracy in Oil Leases; Other Two Alleged Flagrant Bribery.

Washington, July 30.—Four indictments charging Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior; Harry F. Sinclair, Edward L. Doheny and E. L. Doheny, Jr., with criminal action in connection with the leasing of naval oil reserves in Wyoming and California were returned today in the District of Columbia supreme court. A special grand jury, which has given weeks to consideration of the evidence, leveled formal charges of felony against the four men, whose names have held the spotlight in the prolonged senate oil investigation and the civil litigation which followed.

Fall and the two Dohenys, the first indictment charged, entered into and maintained an unlawful conspiracy from July 1, 1921, to December 11, 1922, to enable the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company and its subsidiary, the Pan-American Petroleum company, to obtain control of naval oil reserve No. 1 in California.

Similarly, the second indictment said, Fall and Sinclair conspired unlawfully between December 31, 1921, and April 7, 1922, to give the Mammoth Oil company, a Sinclair corporation, control of the Teapot Dome reserve in Wyoming.

Fall charged with Bribe. The third indictment charged Fall singly with accepting a bribe of $100,000 from the Dohenys to influence his actions in the California lease and accompanying negotiations concerning storage and exchange of naval oil.

The fourth indictment, reversing the same charge, held the Dohenys up for prosecution for paying Fall the money in question.

Fall, in both the conspiracy charges, was accused of having sought to prevent the government from obtaining competitive bids for exploiting the naval reserves, and of having made false representations and statements to prevent the appearance of competitors against the Sinclair and Doheny companies. This resulted in great loss to the government, the two indictments said, and unjust profits to the successful lessees.

As an overt act in furtherance of the conspiracy charges, the indictments said, Fall, on July 8, 1921, sent to Doheny a letter, declaring the interior department was now in control of the naval reserves, to the exclusion of the navy department. The letter, which was never before made public, recited for Doheny's benefit a letter which he then sent to President Harding.

No Further Conflict Possible. "There will be no possibility of any further conflict with navy officials and this department," Fall said to Doheny, "as I have notified Secretary Denby that I should conduct the matter of the naval leases under direction of the president, without calling any of his force in consultation. . . . He understands the situation and that I shall handle matters exactly as I think best and will not consult with any officials of any bureau in his department, but only with himself, and such consultation will be confined strictly and entirely to matters of general policy."

In the conspiracy charged with Sinclair, the indictment said, Fall also sought to "stifle competition" by overt acts of this kind, it repeated a letter sent by Fall, then secretary, to Joseph W. Clarke, a Leadville (Col.) attorney, informing him that the Teapot Dome area which was later leased to Sinclair, was being subject only to drilling for "offset wells to protect the government property."

Frank E. Kistler, a representative of the Producers and Refiners' corporation, the indictment added, also was told on March 20, 1922, after negotiations with Sinclair had begun, that the "policy" of leasing the reserve had not been determined.

More briefly, the two indictments dealing with the alleged $100,000 bribe recounted the payment to Fall which the younger Doheny made at his father's instance.

Two Bribe Indictments. Their text dealt concretely with the set of incidents upon which the senate inquiry was pressed for several weeks, when Fall declared he obtained $100,000 as a loan from E. R. McLean, Washington newspaper publisher. Doheny, as a witness before the committee, finally testified he had sent that sum to Fall by his son, E. L. Doheny, Jr., in a "black bag," but that it was a friendly loan.

Attorneys for the indicted men all arranged to bring their clients into court next week, and to put up bail of $5,000 each to secure their appearance for trial. Frank J. Hogan, one of the Doheny lawyers, issued a statement sharply attacking the government counting for naming the younger Doheny in the indictments, declaring this step to be "nothing less than disgraceful." His clients were prepared to "fearlessly meet the issue," he added.

Trials upon the charges may not be begun for several months, the government prosecutors indicated. Preliminary legal obstacles in the way of actions to quash and dismiss indictments, it was said, are usually to be encountered in prosecutions of such magnitude.

HOLD LAST SERVICES FOR A. O. VENABLE, 64

Stone Mountain, Ga., June 30.—(Special.)—Funeral services for A. O. Venable, 64, who died at his home here Sunday morning, were held from the residence of his brother, S. H. Venable, near here, at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. Richard Orme Blinn, pastor of North Avenue Presbyterian church, Atlanta, officiated. Interment was at Stone Mountain cemetery.

Mr. Venable had been engaged in the quarrying business here since 1886. He was a Georgian and had resided in this state practically all his life.

He is survived by his widow, three sons, W. O. W. H. and R. B. Venable; three brothers, S. H. and W. L. Venable, of Atlanta, and Clarence Venable, of Lithonia, Ga., and a sister, Mrs. Frank Mason, of Atlanta.

Details Completed For Fourth of July Celebration Here

Miss Gladys Hanson, former Atlanta girl, who has been a Broadway star for years, has consented to represent Columbia, central figure in the pageant to be held at Piedmont Park Friday afternoon in connection with the Fourth of July celebration to be staged by the Atlanta Woman's club. It was announced Monday by members of the arrangement committee.

Other parts in the tableau will be portrayed by Miss June Sharp, daughter of Mrs. Norman Sharp, president of the Atlanta Woman's club, who will represent Liberty, and George Butler, who will take the part of Uncle Sam. A group of young women will represent the 13 original states.

The celebration will open with a procession, led by a group of newly naturalized citizens, which will enter the park at 5 o'clock, and march to the platform, which has been built directly in front of the peace monument, where exercises will be held. Thirty-five patriotic and civic organizations, including practically every club in the city, will be represented in the parade.

Exercises will be opened with introductory remarks by Mrs. Norman Sharp, which will be followed by the pageant. Judge Marcus Beck has been named as principal speaker of the day, and Governor Clifford W. Walker and Mayor Walter A. Sims also will deliver short addresses.

At the end of the regular exercises members of the Atlanta Girl Scouts will send up red, white and blue balloons. Tech High school and the city bands will furnish music.

Major J. R. Conyers has been appointed marshal of the day and Colonel Charles Cox, adjutant general of Georgia, has promised to be present. Miss Ernestine Hornaday has been named official page to Mrs. Sharp.

All details of the celebration are in charge of the committee on general arrangements, of which Mrs. D. E. Stevenson, first vice president of the Atlanta Woman's club, is chairman, and the citizenship department of the club. Mrs. Stevenson will be assisted by Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith.

NEW CIVIC CLUB HOLDS WEEKLY MEET TODAY

Atlanta's new civic club will hold its regular luncheon at 12:15 o'clock today at the Kimball house. It was announced Monday by Luther P. Call, Jr., secretary. Names of several applicants for membership will be submitted for approval.

A musical program has been arranged, including community singing, with Mr. Austin at the piano.

Cuticura Healed Large Pimples All Over Face and Neck

"I had been troubled with pimples and blackheads for two years. The pimples were all over my face and neck causing me a great deal of annoyance and embarrassment, especially when I was in company. They were hard, large, and red, and festered and scaled over, itching and burning all the time, causing me to scratch, which made them worse. The eruptions on my face hurt and caused disfigurement."

"A friend urged me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and after steady and continued applications for four months I was completely healed." (Signed) E. M. Foster, 1309 De Bree Ave., Norfolk, Va.

For every purpose of the toilet and bath Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum are excellent.

RALSTON ASKS PROOF OF KLAN CONNECTION

Madison Square Garden, New York, June 30.—Thomas Taggart gave out in the convention hall today a telegram from Senator Ralston, calling on The New York World to make public any information it may have on the question of whether the senator is a klansman.

The telegram grows out of published reports here that the senator's candidacy for the democratic presidential nomination was being injured because of alleged support by the Ku Klux Klan.

The telegram, which has been published by The World, follows:

"I gave The World's representative on Saturday the following statement: 'I have heretofore informed The World that I am not a member of the Ku Klux Klan or of any of its branches. This statement is either the truth or a falsehood. I take it from the persistence of The World in inquiring further into my supposed relations to this organization, it has doubt as to the truthfulness of my statement. If it has such doubt, I submit it is time for it to disclose its information to the public.'

"Let me say that I have not asked any man or any newspaper to support my nomination for president, nor have I any information as to what delegations if any, aside from that of Indiana, intend to support me for nomination. If, however, I should be nominated for that high office, I shall appreciate the support of every voter in the country without regard to the blood which courses through his veins or the organization to which he belongs, provided such support is given me with the understanding that I shall stand upon the platform of the New York convention and shall insist upon every citizen having all his constitutional rights scrupulously safeguarded."

CIVITAN CLUB TO HOLD ANNUAL OUTING TODAY

Arrangements have been completed for the annual all-day outing of the Civitan club, to be held today at the East Lake Country club. The affair will open at 7 o'clock this morning, and will be concluded with a dance, to follow a dinner to be given at 7 o'clock tonight.

A golf tournament will be a feature of the outing, and a valuable trophy, donated by Herbert Porter, will go to the winner. Other contests of various kinds, including tennis, swimming and horseshoe pitching, have been arranged. Herbert Porter is in charge of the program.

Census of School Totals

Huntsville, Ala., June 30.—(Special.)—Educational authorities here are preparing for a census of the children of school age in Madison county. They are expecting a large increase over the showing made two years ago when the last census was taken.

Crop Conditions Better Says Federal Reserve Report

Weather conditions have been more favorable during May than during the earlier part of the spring, resulting in improved prospects for general agricultural crops, according to the monthly business review issued by the Federal Reserve bank of the sixth district. The first report of the department of agriculture on the condition of cotton showed the lowest condition in several years, with one exception. The condition of the crop in the country, as a whole, was estimated to be 65.6 per cent of normal, compared with 81 per cent at the same time last year. Only one state in this district, however, reported an estimated condition as low as the figure for the United States. Other crops have benefited by the warmer weather of recent weeks, and the prospects are better now than they were a month or two ago.

Savings Grow.

Other business growth for May, however, reflect a more favorable condition. Savings deposits continue to show small increases from month to month, and at the end of May were 8 per cent greater than at the same time last year. Loans at the Federal Reserve bank, and at reporting member banks, are at the lowest point of this year, and debits to individual accounts show up larger than at this time last year.

The volume of building permits issued in this district during May was the third largest on record, and while the production of pig iron in the United States showed a decline in Alabama the output in May was the largest of any month since May last year.

Retail trade was not quite so active during May as in April, and figures reported by 43 department stores show an aggregate decline of 2.5 per cent, compared with May last year. Sales in Nashville, Birmingham and Savannah during May reached new levels for the year, but at other points business was not quite up to that in April.

A further decline in the volume of business at wholesale is indicated in reports received for May from more than 150 wholesale firms in nine different lines of trade in this district. All of the nine lines registered decreases in sales compared with April, ranging from a decrease of 2.3 per cent in hardware to 3.5 per cent in farm implements. Groceries and electrical supplies are the only lines in the district to show increased business in May over that in May last year.

Critical Months of Cotton Season Ahead, Declares Price

BY THEO. H. PRICE.

Editor Commerce and Finance.

New York, June 30.—July contracts are higher and new crops are lower than they were a week ago.

The scarcity of the actual and the hope of a more abundant supply next season explain the lack of uniformity in the trend of the market. The shortage of cotton as well as the dullness of the dry goods market is compelling the mills to curtail and seasonal weather in the drought has inspired more encouraging crop which have in turn inspired some to sell the more distant deliveries.

The various private crop reports thus far issued indicate an end of June condition that will probably average about 68 and the Financial Chronicle puts the area planted at 11,015,000 acres. If the government report to be published July 2 comes anywhere near these figures a decline in new crop deliveries would appear to be almost inevitable, but the "Chronicle" estimate of the acreage has exceeded that of the government for years and it may be that there will be a sharp advance if the findings of the agricultural department should fail to confirm those of the private investigators.

But whatever the course of the market in the next week or two it is well to remember that the critical months of the season are still ahead of us and that the high of August is not far off. The cotton market shows extremes for the last few years as indicated by the price of January contracts, are given in the following

the New York Market.

Miss Marcelle Lyon To Wed John T. Norris July 5

The marriage of Miss Marcelle Lyon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Lyon, and John T. Norris will be an interesting event of Saturday afternoon, July 5.

The ceremony will be performed by Rev. J. W. Ham, pastor of the Baptist Tabernacle, at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride-elect's sister, Mrs. O. D. Martin, 761 North Avenue. The little flower girls will be Misses Eleta Martin, niece of the bride-elect, and Doris Baldwin, the bride-elect's cousin. Miss O. D. Martin will be her sister.

Miss Mays Weds F. D. Johnson.

The announcement of the wedding of Miss Norma Vesta Mays, of this city, formerly of Pensacola, Fla., to Fred D. Johnson is of interest to a host of friends throughout the southern states.

The impressive ring ceremony was solemnized Wednesday evening, June 25, at 7 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude E. Davis on Peachtree road, by Rev. W. J. D. Upshaw, pastor of the Buckhead Baptist church.

The house was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and ferns. The bride entered with her only attendant, Miss Ruth Turner, and was met at the altar by the groom and Claude E. Davis, who acted as best man.

The bride was lovely in an exquisite gown of midnight blue georgette trimmed in real lace. She wore a becoming powder blue hat with lace trimmings. Her bouquet of bride's roses was showered with lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Ruth Turner, was gowned in pale yellow georgette. Her bouquet was sweet peas showered with lilies of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left during the evening for a motor trip to south Florida and on their return from their wedding trip they will be at home to their friends at 18 Maryland avenue.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Lynwood Chance, of McDavid, Fla., and is a young woman of charming personality. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Graves and is prominently connected in business.

West End Club Gives Luncheon.

The membership committee of the West End Woman's club, of which Miss Elizabeth Young is chairman, will sponsor a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock today at the Elks' club, at 40 East Ellis street.

Invitations were issued for this luncheon last week and a large attendance is expected. All members of the club are invited and are asked to bring their friends and those interested in the club. Plates will be 50 cents each.

This luncheon is in the interest of the membership drive that was launched a few weeks ago. Miss Young, as chairman of the membership committee, has already secured a number of new members and expects to carry the membership of the club to a thousand members by the 15th of September.

Among the guests invited to the affair for Tuesday are Judge L. F. McClelland, exalted ruler of Atlanta lodge of Elks, and Mr. Broyles, secretary of the lodge, who will speak to the club members relative to the membership drive as carried out by the Elks. Mr. Deford Smith, the architect selected to draw plans for the clubhouse to be started within a few weeks, also will be present.

An interesting program has been arranged for the luncheon and a large attendance is anticipated by both club members and their guests.

Needlecraft Circle To Meet Wednesday.

The Needlecraft circle will meet with Mrs. T. D. Weld, 60 Mell avenue, Wednesday, July 2, at 8:30 o'clock. A patriotic program, Mrs. Kopf and her committee in charge, will be given.

ter's matron of honor, and A. A. Lyon will give his daughter in marriage.

Edgar David will act as Mr. Morris' best man.

An informal reception will follow the ceremony and during the afternoon Mr. Morris and his bride will leave for a motor trip to Tybee Beach and points of interest in Florida.

The marriage of this popular young couple will be a prominent social event of the week, and will center the interest of a wide circle of friends throughout the state.

Miss Brook Honored By Miss Nesbitt.

Miss Grace Nesbitt entertained at a bridge party Saturday afternoon at her home on Drewry street in honor of Miss Avis Brook, who leaves July 4 on an automobile tour to New York and other points and sails July 12 on steamship Rotterdam for a three-month tour of Europe.

The color scheme of pink and white was effectively carried out in summer flowers, mints, novelty favors and in the dresses of the guest of honor and the hostess. Miss Brook was lovely in a white sport silk. Miss Nesbitt wore pink voile.

The guests included Miss Avis Brook, Miss Sarah Haver, Miss Henry Kahre, Miss Edith Danziger, from Greenwood, S. C., visitor of Mrs. Kahre; Mrs. Raymond Munday, Miss Helen Smith, Miss Hester Boylston, Miss Lulu Zee Herbig, Miss Isabelle Herbig, Mrs. George Mevare, Mrs. Ben Perryman, Mrs. Everett Hill, Miss Letitia Lawrence, Mrs. Thomas Oster, and Miss Helen Nesbitt.

"The Deer Slayer" To Be Presented.

"The Deer Slayer," a five-reel picture, which is a massive production of James Kenmore Cooper's romance of the French and Indian war, will be shown Wednesday night under the auspices of the Atlanta Woman's club in the auditorium of the clubhouse.

This film has proved so inspiring to the youth of this country that it was dedicated to the Boy Scouts of America. The Deer Slayer himself, appealed to the boys and was officially endorsed by the scout organization. Mrs. Norman Sharp, president of the Atlanta Woman's club, introduced this picture in the clubhouse as faithfully portraying the story of the beautiful Judith and the Deer Slayer with all the picturesque atmosphere and scenic veracity of the book produced by the author.

Mrs. Sharp will be assisted in the presentation of this film by the officers of the woman's club and speaks a large audience, as it is a privilege to place a wholesome drama before the members of the woman's club and their children and friends at the low cost of 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children.

Those people who have enjoyed the Leather Stocking Tales will remember how real the stories of the author are and how in "The Deer Slayer" the adventures of the white man gain a foothold in a new country.

The picture will be shown promptly at 8 o'clock Wednesday night, July 3, and the club members are urged to fill the auditorium with their friends as the production is given for the benefit of the club building fund.

La Amicade Club Elects Officers.

The La Amicade club held its regular monthly business meeting Saturday evening at the home of Miss Isabelle Cameron, 58 Elizabeth street.

The following officers were elected: W. A. Taylor, president; Stuart Morton, secretary; Isabelle Cameron, treasurer.

The members present were Misses Eleta Taylor, Louise Heidler, Stella Taylor, Isabelle Cameron, Robert McDaniel, Harry McDaniel, Ernest Britchett, Stuart Morton, Joe LaConte and William Taylor.

Buffet Supper at "Rosedale" Honors Seiz-Shaw Bridal Party

An outstanding social event of Monday evening was the buffet supper at which Mr. and Mrs. Emu Charles Seiz entertained at their home, "Rosedale," on Peachtree road, following the wedding rehearsal of their daughter, Miss Ruth Louise Seiz, and Raymond G. Shaw, whose marriage will be a brilliant event of Wednesday evening.

The reception rooms were attractively arranged with vases and bowls of colorful summer flowers and foliage plants. The table in the dining room was overlaid with a handsome lace cloth and the central decoration was a large silver basket of pink roses, the handle tied with pink tulle; encircling this were silver candlesticks holding pink unshaded tapers and silver compotes of mints and bonbons.

During the evening Miss Seiz and

Mr. Shaw were presented a beautiful miniature bride's cake containing the wedding symbols in gold and exquisitely embossed with pink rosebuds, to which were attached graceful pink satin ribbons which were drawn by the members of the bridal party.

The charming bride-elect was beautifully gowned in a costume of peach-colored chiffon embroidered in crystal beads.

Mrs. E. C. Seiz, Sr., wore a model of white chiffon elaborately beaded in pearls.

The guests included the families and the wedding attendants, who are Miss Seiz, Mr. Shaw, Misses Lucile Byrne, Lucile Cobb, Marjorie Strickland, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Whitaker, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Seiz, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Strickland, Felton Hill, Paul Smith, J. M. Shelton, Mrs. Harry Lelloy and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Seiz, Sr.

National Conclave Opens With Elaborate Parties

Honoring the large number of prominent visitors who are in the city attending the joint conclave of the Sigma Theta Pi sorority and the Eta Phi fraternity, the local chapter of Eta Phi entertained Monday evening with a hay ride.

The guests assembled at the Biltmore hotel and the large motor trucks left at 9 o'clock for Cascade springs. There a picnic supper was served in charming al fresco fashion, followed by dancing on the broad porches of Cascade terrace. The Sigma Theta Pi furnished a program of late dance music during the evening and many novel features of entertainment were introduced. There were grab bags and games of many kinds. A unique feature was the program of southern negro melodies and vaudeville skits rendered by the Plantation entertainers.

The initial event of the conclave was a reception at which the visitors were entertained by the local chapter of Sigma Theta Pi Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Eugene Oberdorfer, Jr., on St. Charles avenue. Sunday evening the men of the fraternity were hosts at an elaborate reception and dinner-dance at the Standard club.

The clubhouse presented a beautiful scene with its lavish decorations of tropical palms, ferns and cut flowers. The guests were received at 9:30 o'clock by the members of the Eta Phi chapter of Eta Phi. At 10:30 o'clock dinner was served. The place cards were attractive novelties and the Eta Phi orchestra furnished music for the occasion.

During dinner Donald Oberdorfer, chairman of the conclave, made a speech of welcome to the guests. The conclave badges, bearing the crests of both orders, were distributed and the convention programs which were also given to the guests were of leather handsomely tooled in gold.

At midnight dancing began in the ballroom and dance programs were distributed, the favors being attractive walnut novelties. An elaborate cotillion was staged during the evening, at which pretty crepe paper parols were given to the ladies and gaily colored carnations to the men.

Two hundred and fifty guests were entertained.

New Jersey Visitor To Be Complimented At Many Parties

Miss Ethelyn Redden, of East Orange, N. J., is the attractive guest of Miss Henrietta Mikell, at her home on Seventeenth street.

Miss Clayton Callaway will compliment Miss Redden at an informal dinner Wednesday evening and Saturday afternoon Miss Redden will be the central figure in a party at the Biltmore tea-dance.

Miss Mikell will honor her guest with a bridge-luncheon Thursday at her home. She will be assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. H. J. Mikell.

Miss Redden shared honors with Miss Mary Mathewson, the guest of Miss Virginia Howard, at a swimming party at the Piedmont Driving club Monday afternoon at which Miss Mary Armstrong was hostess. After the swim tea was served on the terrace.

Miss Mikell was hostess at an informal dinner party Monday evening honoring her visitor.

Covered for Misses Redden, Anne Lane Newell, Mary Armstrong, William Harvey, Barlow Ford, Francis Plumb and Joe Duckworth and Miss Mikell.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

To Keep Them in Shape.

With the very low cost of coat hangers it is a foolish person who does not have one for each suit, frock or coat.

Aluminum Ware.

There is no better buy for kitchen utensils than those made from aluminum. Granted, the original cost is a little more, but the wear thereof is endless in comparison to utensils that chip. Moreover, worn aluminum pots and pans can be given a treatment by those in the business that makes them like new, at a very nominal cost. But years and years will pass by before this is necessary.

Household Lore.

A good tapestry can be washed with safety.

Do not garnish a dish that is to be carved.

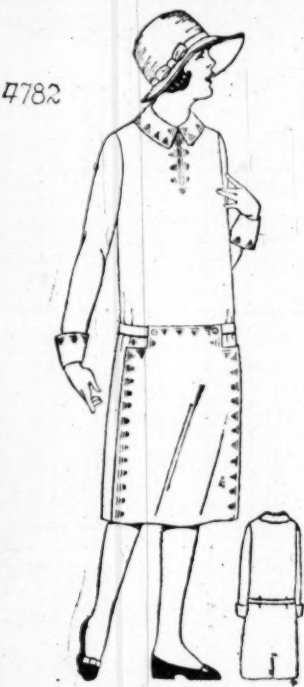

Rottenstone and oil are splendid copper cleaners.

Washing silk hose frequently will unquestionably lengthen their life.

A slice of juicy tomato rubbed on ink stains on linen will frequently remove them.

Place a box of quicklime in the damp cupboard for a few days to absorb the moisture.

THE CONSTITUTION'S PATTERNS

A SMART FROCK FOR THE GROWING GIRL.

4782. This model will be very becoming to a slender girl. It is a good style for a school dress. Gingham, linen or alpaca could be used for its development.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. A 10-year size requires 2 1/2 yards of 40-inch material. Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

Send 12 cents in silver or stamps for our up-to-date spring and summer 1924 book of fashions.

In ordering patterns write name and address plainly on a sheet of paper. Order by number and inclose price in silver or stamps. Do not mail letter to The Constitution building in Atlanta, but address as follows: Fashion Department, The Constitution, 1188-89 Fulton St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

New Manager for Theater.

Dawson, Ga., June 30.—(Special.) The Palace theater, Dawson's leading movie house, is now under new management. Byron Cooper, of Moultrie, having leased the theater from Robert Wooten. He has already taken possession.

Misses Dorothy and Marjorie Heath, of Sumter, S. C., who are the attractive guests of Mrs. Albert Howell, Sr., at her home on Gordon street. These lovely young girls are being delightfully entertained at many informal parties during their visit.

Fair-Weather Wives

BY MILDRED BARBOUR

An Intolerable Situation.

In the spring, Tom Grosvenor returned from the south and resumed his tempestuous courtship of Marjorie.

She found him less the charming companion than she had thought him in the autumn and early winter. Perhaps it was because he was a trifle irritable, quick-tempered, impatient of the waiting she put upon him by her "stubbornness," as he termed it. For the first time in his spoiled young life, he couldn't have something at the very moment that he wanted it.

Still, Marjorie was sure she loved him. She let him kiss her occasionally without feeling any appreciable thrill. In fact, on those rare occasions, she experienced a distinct sense of disloyalty to Reed Hollister. Though he had never been her lover and she bore his name unwillingly, she felt that a certain honor attached to it that should set the standard of her behavior.

"You've got to do something," Tom fumed. "I can't stand this situation any longer."

"It's not very pleasant for me," admitted Marjorie, quietly.

"Then chuck Hollister and get it over with. I don't believe you want to," he complained bitterly. "I think you want to hang on to that bounder. I don't believe you love me at all."

She looked at him with grave eyes, questioning, then she said:

"Of course I do, Tom," quickly.

"You're so damned unreasonable!" he muttered.

Resentful color flashed in her cheeks.

"If you talk to me like that before we're married—"

It was the nearest to quarreling they came. He apologized and was very kind and considerate for several days. Then, it was the same old, unanswerable argument over again.

Marjorie was getting a bit weary. Many forebodings combined to make her situation more intolerable than ever that spring. Dan came home for the holidays and demanded more money for one thing. When told she didn't have it to give, while Julie was dependent on her, he became a bit nasty.

"You'd better watch your step, young lady," he warned darkly. "I hear stories about your tearing around with this Grosvenor fellow. If Reed Hollister gets onto it, he may stop playing the gallant fool and shut down on us all. Then, where would we be?"

Marjorie shrugged.

"Much better off, from an honorable standpoint, than we are now."

"You talk like an imbecile," he declared, disgustedly. "Tell you I've got to have more money. I'll be a junior next year, and I'm not going to scrimp."

"I've told you," said Marjorie wearily, "that what Jane's here—"

Dan swung himself off the table edge resignedly.

"Oh, well, that won't be much longer. Her decree's bound to come across any day now, and then she'll marry that other chap and be off your hands. With her gone—"

He made an expressive gesture, grinned and lounged off to the tennis court.

Marjorie sat, with her chin resting on her palm, looking out over the garden, brave in its spring beauty, at the blue waters of the sound rippling in the sunlight.

She was thinking of Dan's parting words "with Julie gone." To her they were the passport of freedom. For with Julie gone, she intended to put into effect the decision she had made and been forced to abandon the night Julie had come to tell her that Ned Barclay had failed and she herself was coming home to live. With Julie gone, married again, and the possibility of scandal averted, she would take her courage in her two hands, free herself from Reed Hollister and his charity, and marry Tom Grosvenor.

There would be a terrible scene with the family, of course. Mrs. Boice-Nevis and Dan would flay her, but it couldn't be worse than her present situation. For not only was her pride being hurt intolerably by her position as the recipient of Hollister's beneficence, but there were other considerations as well.

Day by day, night by night, as she went her social way in tow of her triumphant mother, it was brought home to her just what an anomalous situation was here. She began to feel that all men were beasts of prey, so eager, so avid, so appraising as she found them. She found her little traps set for her, traps set to gauge her, to discover for some predatory male's satisfaction why it was that the Hollister marriage had been no marriage, why this beautiful creature was a wife without a husband.

There was one man, rather passive and world-weary, who paid a great deal of attention to Mrs. Boice-Nevis. He called frequently, and at one tea-time he found Marjorie alone in the drawing room. He said some things to her, things couched in delicate terms but unmistakably in their insulting implication.

She sprang to her feet, hands clenched, cheeks flaming.

"How dare you!" she flashed.

"How dare you?" Do you not remember that I am married—that I—

He smiled thinly.

"Yes? Where is your husband?" he asked pointedly.

"You coward!" she flung the words at him and dashed away to her room, where she raged silently, pacing the floor with burning cheeks and flashing eyes.

For the first time in her life she witnessed that Hollister were there to settle with the old roué downstairs.

For some curious reason she didn't think of Tom Grosvenor in the role of disciplinarian. He was too lazy, too ease-loving, too happy-go-lucky to be a good champion.

Yes, she thought that spring afternoon, as she sat looking out over the garden, something must be done and quickly to rid herself of this intolerable situation.

Miss Catherine Guller Is Complimented at Lyric Box Party

Miss Catherine Guller and Miss Katherine Ingram, of Jacksonville, Fla., who are the guests of Miss Guller's grandmother, Mrs. Edward Boleston Walker, at her summer home, "Idlewild," near East Lake, were complimented at a box party at the Lyric theater on Monday evening, at which Mr. and Mrs. McCord Roberts entertained a group of the younger set.

Miss Guller was crowned in jade green georgette trimmed in cream lace.

Miss Ingram wore a flowered georgette in shades of pink, trimmed in silver ribbon.

BEAUTY CHATS

By Edna K. Forbes

ANSWERED LETTERS.

R. E. C.—Bleach the skin on your throat with lemon juice or buttermilk. You can bleach freckles somewhat but you cannot get rid of them. When the skin is very much soiled a cleansing cream is better than soap for clearing the pores.

Scotty—At 15 years of age, height, five feet, two inches, the weight should be about 110 pounds.

F. N. C.—To produce a dye that will be henna color, take scarlet or any of the vivid red shades and add a little brown dye. Test this by dipping material in it before you use it for dyeing a whole garment.

Marilyn—As the bust is so sensitive I do not think it is sensible for any woman to take a change of braids, or of of any kind in any other way, merely for the possibility of a little extra development. Fortunately, the woman with a straight figure can always look well in her clothes, and the size of the bust has little to do with it.

Mitzi—The oils you mention should not be used on the face. Use only fine vegetable oils or creams that have such oils in them. Almond or olive oil are the best choices. Practice deep breathing to fill out your chest. If you take a full daily warm bath, you will begin to clear and they will gradually become smaller till they are no longer noticed any more.

M. H.—There is no reason why you should be frightened about your state of health, for if you feel well you may count upon nature taking good care of you. Since you have been so impressed by the harrowing tales about young girls going into decline, it will be a great help to you if you take some motherly woman into your confidence. Your experience is no different than many another girl at your age, so I should not listen to these girls again, and if you take care of your health, you will be all right after a few months.

Polly W.—I should think that the water from the sulphur springs in Florida would act as a purifier to the blood; but whether or not you should use the water as a spring tonic will depend upon what else it contains beside sulphur.

For a little girl of three to be losing her hair may only mean that she is shedding the fine hair of babyhood, and a stronger growth may be following it. If her scalp is very dry, rub a little bit of olive oil into it every few days. Nothing else should be necessary in the case of a healthy child.

Tomorrow—Hair Dressing.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

HENRY SCHOOL JOB SOUGHT BY WOMAN

Juliette, Ga., June 30.—(Special.) Mrs. John S. Brown, of McDonough, has announced her candidacy for superintendent of schools of Henry county.

Mrs. Brown was appointed by the county board of education to fill the unexpired term of Professor T. J. Horton, who resigned. She was the first president of the Henry County Federation of Women's clubs, chairman of several of the liberty loan drives and received a certificate of honor from Woodrow Wilson for service in the Red Cross. She has taught school in Georgia for many years.

Merritt-Beall Wedding Is Social Event in Americus

Americus, Ga., June 30.—One of the most interesting of the June weddings was that of Miss Leta Merritt and Elisha Harvey Beall, of Atlanta, which took place Saturday at 12 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Merritt, at their home on College street.

The ceremony, which was witnessed by a large number of friends, relatives and out-of-town guests, was performed by Rev. Milo M'esses, pastor of the Central Baptist church, the ring ceremony being used.

The home was adorned for the occasion with quantities of summer garden blossoms, effectively arranged with ferns and palms as a background. Garlands of smilax framed the doorway, which were backed on both sides by tall floor baskets filled with pink and blue hydrangeas, snapdragons, daisies and gladioli. Mantels and consoles held baskets of the same blossoms.

The wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Walter Maynard, who used Mendelssohn's march for the entrance of the bride party and played MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose" softly during the ceremony. Mrs. Dan O'Connell sang sweetly "For the Want of You" before the ceremony.

The bride's only attendants were her sister, Mrs. William Baumann, of Antwerp, N. Y., who was her matron of honor, and little Roselyn Murray, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Nathan Murray, flower girl.

Mrs. Baumann was lovely in a model of powder blue Elizabethan dress, which she wore with a crepe, fashioned along girlish lines, with bands of rich-cream Irish point insertion about the neck and sleeves. Her hair was styled in the "same shade" edged the triple-tiered skirt, which was made apron effect, and a soft girle of radiance ribbon caught down at the left side with an applied motif of French flowers in pastel shades completed this lovely costume. Her hat was of blue Neapolitan braid trimmed with French flowers in pastel shades and her flowers were an arm bouquet of sunburst roses, showered with valley lilies.

Roselyn Murray, the flower girl, wore an exquisite hand-made frock of flesh chiffon, over pink metal cloth trimmed with frills of cream lace and French flowers. She carried the ring in the heart of a white rose.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, with whom she descended the stairs, joining the groom and his brother, Thomas Beall, who acted as best man, at the entrance of the drawing room, where the ceremony was performed before an altar formed of palms and smilax, interspersed with white pedestal baskets filled with clusters of Shasta daisies. Tall white tapers burned in cathedral candelabra at intervals among the palms.

The bride was unusually lovely in her bridal costume of French blue chiffon, trimmed with gold Valenciennes lace, which formed the hem of the skirt, and rows of narrow gold-lace edging adorned the side draperies, giving the skirt a bouffant effect. The bodice was fashioned with bateau neck line, and short sleeves which were outlined with rows of gold lace. She wore a picture hat of peach-colored chiffon faced with French blue, and trimmed with French flowers, and ribbon in the pastel shades. Her flowers were bride's roses, and flesh-colored orchids, showered with valley lilies.

Reception Held.

Following the ceremony, an informal reception was held in the dining room a color motif of pink was used, the decorations, cakes and ices carrying out the idea.

Assisting in serving were Miss Louise Connor, Miss Mary Walker, Mrs. A. J. Bell, Mrs. W. E. Morgan, Miss Evelyn Bell, Miss Mary Catherine Beall, Mrs. H. B. Clair, Miss Jennings, Mrs. Nathan Murray and Miss Maude Buchanan, of Atlanta, presided over the punch bowls. Miss Bernice McArthur kept the bride's register.

Mrs. Merritt, mother of the bride, was handsomely gowned in navy crepe back satin, head in cut steel design. She wore a corsage bouquet of lavender orchids and valley lilies.

Later in the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Beall left for Atlanta, where they will be at the Atlanta Biltmore for sometime. The bride's going-away costume was of navy blue charmeuse, trimmed with ecru-embroidered georgette with which she wore a small blue ducryn hat, faced with ecru.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Morgan, Miss Maude Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wall, Thomas Beall, of Atlanta; Mrs. W. R. Baumann, of Antwerp, N. Y.; Lewis Merritt, of McDonough; Mr. and Mrs. George Lee Parrott, of Columbus; and Mrs. E. P. Munro, of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Burris.

Atlanta Chaparons Open St. Simon's Camp.

H. P. Brotherton, president of the 12:30 Camping club, and Mrs. Brotherton, official chaparons, will leave Sunday morning and motor to St. Simon's Island to open up the club's summer camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Brotherton will be accompanied by Judge and Mrs. McKenzie, from Hapeville; Miss Mamie Cole and Harry Baker. Other members of the club will drive down during the week.

Keeps Hair in Curl On Hot, Wet or Windy Days

Here's a hair curling secret that is decidedly "worth while." Just apply a little liquid salinizer before doing up the hair, using a clean tooth brush for the purpose, and you will have beautiful curls and waves as you could wish for. The salinizer will look so natural no one will guess it was artificially acquired. And it will last ever so long, regardless of heat, wind or dampness. You can obtain liquid salinizer at any drug store at not to exceed twenty cents an ounce. It is neither sticky nor greasy. It serves also as a beneficial dressing, keeping the hair soft, silky and lustrous. It's fine for both long and bobbed hair.—(adv.)

Are Women 100 Per Cent Efficient?

How many women do you know who are one hundred per cent efficient? That means every nerve and sinew of the body pulsating with life and health as nature intended. Do you not know more who are half dead and half alive, with aches, pains, nervous, irritable and despondent, making themselves miserable and every one around them? Women in this condition should let Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound rebuild and restore them to normal healthy condition which will make them one hundred per cent efficient and life worth living. There are women in every section of this country who testify to its merits.—(adv.)

Open Club Institute Women of Georgia At State University

Athens, Ga., June 30.—(Special.)—Women from all sections of Georgia today opened the Club Institute at the University of Georgia summer school. Registration is expected to exceed 100.

Sessions were held at the War Memorial hall on the university campus and women were welcomed by Chancellor David C. Barrow and Director J. S. Stewart.

The theme of the first session was "Club Relationships," with Mrs. M. L. Troutman, club market leader at the Athens market, explaining how this organization has been successful in Athens. Mrs. Brantley spoke on "The Machinery of the Federation," Mrs. Joseph Vason, of Atlanta, on "The Spirit of the Federation," Mrs. H. D. Russell, of Macon, on "Club Institutes as Training Schools for Club Leaders."

The afternoon program included addresses and lectures by Dr. Stewart, Professor W. D. Furr, Miss Carolyn Cobb, of Atlanta; Mrs. W. F. Elliott, tenth district president, and Dr. E. W. Carter, director of the Athens child health demonstration. Tuesday night will be known as "Woman's Club Evening" and a special program has been arranged for the occasion.

ATLANTA BIBLE STUDENTS ATTEND DECATUR SCHOOL

The daily vacation Bible school of the First Baptist church at Decatur held its opening services Monday morning from 9 to 11 o'clock. At the opening session there were 125 members enrolled.

William E. Waterhouse, of Mercer, widely known as a young folk worker and successful evangelist, is principal. Other leaders are: Mrs. Skelton, junior department; Miss Mary McCallum, primary department; Miss Caroline Selman, kindergarten department, and Rev. J. M. Haymore, pastor.

The school features Bible stories, Bible memory work and craft work, including sewing, crepe paper work and wood work. The school will continue through July 18 and anyone interested in this work is invited to attend.

ANSLEY HOTEL OPENED 11 YEARS AGO MONDAY

Monday marked the eleventh anniversary of the opening of the Ansley hotel with the opening of the service this accommodation became too limited.

The Dinkler Hotel company, which began operation of the Ansley in 1921, at once made plans for its enlargement, and under the management of Carling L. and Louis J. Dinkler a handsome annex, containing 150 guest rooms and the latest improvements, was opened to the public last summer. This annex gives the Ansley a capacity of 450 rooms, each with private bath.

The first guest registered at the Ansley was John M. Slaton, then governor-elect of Georgia. Of the original staff, only Frank T. Reynolds, publicity manager, still remains.

FINAL SERVICES TODAY FOR MRS. J. A. SHERRETT

Last services for Mrs. J. A. Sherrett, pioneer Atlanta woman, who died Monday at the residence, 28 Queen street, West End, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son, with Rev. J. C. Lanes and Rev. C. J. Harrell conducting services. Interment will be in Fayetteville.

Mrs. Sherrett, who was 72 years old, was born in Sparta, Ga., and moved to Atlanta many years ago. She was a member of the First Methodist church here.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Morris E. Temple, of Chinooga, and a son, J. P. Waldrop, of Winter Haven, Fla.

KIWANIS HAVEN TO HEAR SENATOR PHILLIPS

As a feature of the regular weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club Tuesday at the Ansley hotel, State Senator John A. Phillips will deliver an address on "A Budget System for the State of Georgia." Mr. Phillips is lieutenant-governor for the eastern division of Kiwanis International. Floyd Jennings will be in charge of a special musical program.

Graduate Becomes Symbol Of Tallulah Schools Ideals

Miss Eliza Shirley, whose remarkable work as a teacher in the Tallulah Falls Industrial school for mountain boys and girls has been invaluable in the development of this important educational institution sponsored by the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

BY MRS. MCCORD ROBERTS.

Eliza Shirley, crafts teacher at Tallulah Falls Industrial school for mountain boys and girls, and, through the courtesy of Tallulah trustees, loaned to Camp Dixie this summer, boys and girls from other localities may benefit from her expert teaching. Miss Shirley, a native of Georgia, is a devoted mother and a devoted teacher. She is a true and living God who left to endless ages an enduring picture of how a woman may be devoted to another woman—more often true than the reverse—of how spiritual affinity may prove as strong as the birth-tie.

All through the centuries the spirit of Ruth has been reincarnated at intervals in a woman who has laid aside self to glean for others, and we read of her in history as a saint or a sister of mercy. Florence Nightingale was one of this sisterhood. Eliza Shirley is our own Georgia woman of today, toiling with curious selflessness that mountain wild flowers, when we mistakenly think of as weedy children of the hills, may grow in grace and beauty. And these children she makes her children, the people from whom they come are her people.

Tallulah shelters annually a little group of children whose history is touched with that pain and shadow tragedy which mars the lives of far too many mountain folk—because entrancing scenery and wonderful woodland are smeared with the bitter we wrought by moonshine which does not mean clear silvery light streaming over lake and slope—but instead something which sends the men amuck, which brings terror and toil to women and children.

To a little girl, not many years ago, went Miss Nannie Davis, head of a small children's home, clinging to a mountain close to Tallulah Falls, and the outcome of an inspiration, which came to a group of members of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs fifteen years ago. In this home the little girl grew into the lovely Eliza Shirley today standing by the side of Miss Davis as that Ruth of old stood by Naomi. And around them both is a band of children with radiant faces and gentle breeding and eyes as brightly soft as dark and velvet pupils. These children have come to them from mountain recesses, from homes where deprivation is the beginning and end of existence, where the only common tie is nullity, and these children are their children, these children's hopes are their hopes, the joys and sorrows of these children are their joys and sorrows.

Miss Shirley is lovely and she has made lovely the lives of mother and sister—and lovely the lives of many another girl's mother and sister.

Exquisitely blond, with eyes of blue and soft ash-gold hair, when she stands on the mountain slope on the side of which grows the federation's school for mountain boys and girls, the masses of blue and lavender larkspurs at her feet and the deep green of great trees overlaid provide a perfect background for the spirituality surrounding her as with an halo. Somewhere under the spread of every tree a bird home has been fastened by the hands of the little children who live in the human home. There are hundreds of birds. There are hundreds of birds. There should be hundreds of souls in this retreat from all that is harsh and evil.

Now, there are fewer than a hundred, because all these years Georgia club women have been only gleaming the money with which to give these young Americans their chance in life, gleaming in nickels and dimes, where, were its peace and its benediction better known they often true than the reverse—of how spiritual affinity may prove as strong as the birth-tie.

HOW TO CURE CONSTIPATION

There is all the difference in the world between "relieving" and "curing" constipation. Almost any laxative or purgative will temporarily relieve constipation—but you have to keep taking them for life. Why become a slave to disgusting oils and unseemly salts and pills? There is only one way to permanently cure constipation—Remove the cause. What is the cause of constipation? Physicians all know that the cause of constipation is a "lazy colon" which has lost its "tone" or muscular power by which it should empty itself completely and regularly after each full meal. A laxative will kill you sooner or later by poisoning you with its own body poisons (toxins). You can now tone up the muscular walls of your colon with Colotone—the colon tonic, just as you can tone up your stomach with a stomach tonic or your heart with a heart tonic. Colotone is prepared for the colon and the colon alone. It is recommended by the best informed physicians and is guaranteed by your druggist. Colotone costs only one dollar a bottle, if you like it it will cost you nothing if you are not delighted with results. The more Colotone you take, the less you have to take. It is just the opposite with other purgatives. Try Colotone and see for yourself.—(adv.)

Mrs. Slaton Gives Al Fresco Tea For Miss Block

One of the loveliest parties on Monday's social calendar was the tea at which Mrs. John Marshall Slaton was hostess at "Wingfield," her handsome home on Peachtree road.

The pretty affair complimented Miss Margaret Block, who with her mother, Mrs. Francis Block, has recently returned from a trip around the world.

Tea was served in charming al fresco fashion, the table being placed in the beautiful formal garden under a group of stately trees. Adorning the center of the table was a silver basket filled with pink roses. Monogrammed cards marked the guests' places.

Miss Block was an attractive figure wearing a handsome gown of Italian lace, trimmed in ostrich, with a white Neapolitan hat garlanded in flowers.

The guests included Misses Carrie Lou Reynolds, Virginia Maude, Margaret White, Jeannette Collins, Maria Brown, Elizabeth Putnam, Lucy Elizabeth Harper, Mary Jimmie Pattillo and Mrs. Rogers Malone.

Last year, somehow, meager resources were stretched by Miss Davis and Miss Shirley to cover the lives and welfare of thirty-five children who either had no parents or would have been as well off with none as with those they had. Somehow they and the other girls managed to maintain the home, and teach nearly seventy-five other children who came to school because of virtue of a little of this world's goods they could stay with in their parents' homes at night. THE BAD MAN.
By John C. Higgins.
A vaquero came riding down.
On the trail from San de Fries.
As had a man as ever had
A horse between his knees.
Two 43's adorned his belt,
A knife exposed serene,
A rifle in his sheath was held—
He was the worst man ever seen.

To a desert town he came
As he rode along the trail,
He stopped before the old saloon,
Across from the little jail.
With scowling grin he drew his guns,
And shot all over the place.
And broke the glasses into bits,
While each man hid his face.

Aloud he called for the bartender
To come and serve his want,
The man arose in blank despair,
And his face was pale and gaunt.
Hard on the bar the bad man rapped,
And said in his snarly drone:
"Now jest yuh fix up fer me
A large size ice-cream cone."

Betty Sets the Stage.
"Mother," said Betty, "do you know what I'm going to buy for your next birthday?"
"No, dear," answered her mother.
"Well," said the little tot, "I'm going to buy you a nice big hand-painted vase."
"My dear, I have one," said her mother, "I wouldn't want two of them."
"No, you haven't mother," said Betty emphatically, but with downcast eyes, "I just broke it."

If you were born on July 1, your constellation is Dynamo, the sign of the live wire.

Which means that you are right there with the personal magnetism and the 100 h. p. energy.

Dynamo people rarely make good farmers, because they never let any grass grow under their feet. But in almost any other profession they succeed brilliantly, especially in a pressing establishment, always having a lot of iron in the fire.

They are usually exceptionally healthy, but are apt to suffer from fatty degeneration of the figure after reaching forty. For this reason, they should avoid the second helping and take more exercise.

Many a man breaks himself by being too often pleasure bent.

Bertha Lippman.—Isn't there a poem that encourages persistent effort by the lines: "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again?"

Dear Bertha.—Of course there is. An unfailing encouragement for the weaker sex.

Tears are all we women need. To get around the helpless men. So if at first you don't succeed, Cry, dear ladies, cry again.

He Favors the Home Team Always.
Scrigger.—"Are you interested in our local ball team?"

Driggs.—"Well I haven't had time to think much about it. You see we have two boys at our house, and that is the ball team I have to think about."

The Memory That Failed.
Miss Peggy Warren, traveling in California, to her finance, Mr. John Hughes, of Atlanta, Ga.:
My Darling: I must write this little note before I go to bed. It is almost morning, and here I've been sitting all night reading Kipling.

I don't care for him, as you know, but ever since that wonderful night last summer when you told me the story of "The Light That Failed," I have intended reading it. I wanted to know whether it was you or Kipling that had made of it a vital memory.

Dearest, it was you. As I read, there came back to me the soft, summer night, the odor of the cinnamon vine and you, your dear self, with your deep tender voice. Don't you remember that when you finished the story I kissed you and wanted to cry? Tonight when I laid down the book I cried, and wanted to kiss you.

—Peggy.

Reflections.

Second Deacon—"I don't know unless it's because we have no smaller coins."

Every word made Hector shudder. The way in which she pronounced the name Prudence Whitney, was an insult.

Deliberately Hector turned his back on her and faced the girl to whom he had written the seventeenth note the girl whom he had kissed. A taunting devil in his brain kept repeating, "I told you so, I told you so." But he paid it no heed.

"Tell me she's lying," he said

Birmingham, Ala., June 30.—(Special.) Mack Hillis, crack all-around diamond performer, whose most exciting play was a home with the stick, all in the second inning, with the bases full, and the Barons at Richmond's aid, led the Crackers to victory, 2 to 0.

RUSH STARTS FOR FIGHT TICKETS

Macon, Ga., June 30.—(Special).—One of the biggest rushes for fight tickets in the history of this city began early Monday morning and was continuing late Monday night following the putting on sale of cardboard for the big Fourth of July card at the Central City park, featuring Bill McGowan and Jackie Clark, light heavyweight.

tickets are on sale at the One-tute lunch stand and the Williams Mack No. 1 drug store. Both places were crowded with anxious people seeking the best rightside seats.
Special men in both offices are looking after the mail orders, which becoming in at a tremendous rate after the afternoon from nearby places. Fort Valley has ordered a lot of tickets and other towns are expected to do the same.

ly McGowan, who is the strongest in sight for the southern heavy-weight crown and the first part of the feature and battle, began his period of intensive training Sunday. He followed this Monday with a stiff workout included five rounds with Wallace, the Tampa, Fla., fighter who mixes in the 10-round roundup with Jordan Shepard, the conqueror of Red McLean.

Has Heavy Punch.

Gowan has the stiffest punch he has. Wallace declared after the fight. Wallace missed a good shot. McGowan's swift jabs and the tactics of the Georgia heavyweight went through Wallace last time after time.

Clark, of Allentown, Pa., won the other side of the

In Miss Elizabeth Ryan, formerly of California, Mlle. Lenglen found an opponent this afternoon worthy of her mettle. Not only did Miss Ryan, who is playing as an American, set off the idol of all France—an accomplishment only two other women, Mrs. Molla Mallory and Mrs. Chambers, ever achieved—but for a time she had the 20,000 excited spectators thinking she might capture the match.

But this she failed to do, though there was excitement up to the last moment, ending in another victory for Mlle. Lenglen, 6-2, 6-8, 6-4.

Another notable match today was that between Miss

Miss Helen Wills, the American champion, and Mrs. Colgate of England. The American girl made the contest well in hand from the beginning and won, 6-1, 6-0. She was developed a finished game, particularly with regard to playing at the net. Today she had hardly to request herself so accurate was her racket work.

Miss Ryan wore under the strain of trying to overcome the incomparable strategy of Miss Wills.

super Suzanne, however, was greatly perturbed, nor so called in as her less strategic opponent in herself almost to exhaustion. Only one competitor now stands between Miss Wills and her hoped-for match with Mlle. Lenglen in the French ladies' title. To meet the French champion at Wimbledon, however, Miss Wills must first discard Mrs. Satterthwaite, who in her second match with Mrs. Shepherdson today.

Hauser, Simonson, Cichanowicz, Brugge, Rommel, and Dugan to play out at 6-4, 10-8, in the course, that Milne, as usual, will defeat Miss McKane, her opponent in semi-finals.

While Anderson does not a legitimate heavyweight he has time and again offered to forego the advantage of fighting men of his own weight and offered to tackle Jack Renault, Tom Gibbons, Harry Willis and Luis Firpo. All of these fistie artists have refused with thanks offers to meet Lee.

Flowers recently outpointed Anderson in their return match at New York. But Anderson allows that the Tiger's victory on points is not sufficient evidence of his superiority.

that the Georgia star is the better man. Anderson, from all reports, is highly confident that he will again knock the Tiger out. The latter scoffs at the idea and emphatically declares he will again win over Anderson.

SLAPPEY LOSES TO SPARTANS
Spartanburg S. C. June 30.—Brooks and the Spartans broke their losing at home today by winning out over the Tourists 3 to 2. Slappey worked out some damage on the hole until the seventh inning, when Conley doubled with the bases loaded, winning the sacks. Brooks was also the lone hitter of the day, securing three hits in four trips to the plate.

1906 I thought the Olympic games held in the ancient Greek stadium were the most magnificent spectacle of the centuries. But compared to this huge meeting in Paris it was little more than a country fair. All athletic sports are keeping pace with all other developments of an age which is incomparably greater than that of any other period in this world's history.

THE DECISION OF THE COURT

Indication that a decision would be rendered today on the question of continuing the temporary injunction, recently granted in the United States district court to restrain enforcement of an embargo, placed on watermelon shipments from Florida through the state of Georgia, by Peter F. Bannan, state veterinarian, was given late Monday afternoon at conclusion of the hearing.

Legal Notice

Sealed proposals, addressed to W. T. Mayo, Commissioner of Public Utilities, will be received at the City Hall, Savannah, Ga., until 10 o'clock a. m., 15th day of July, 1924, for the extension of the present water works and sewer system, some of the items of which are: Clearing of approximately six thousand acres, railroad bridge and culvert, approximately 10 miles of 24-inch pipe, three miles of 30-inch water conduit, three miles of 24-inch of 30-inch sewer extension and rebuilding of the present sewer system, including the construction of settling basins, and other minor items. Said bids will be received, opened and read publicly in a special session of the city council at 10 o'clock a. m., 16th day of July, at the City Hall, Savannah, Ga. All bids shall be accompanied by the official proposal blank attached to the instructions to bidders. Specifications, Form of Contract and Bond, which may be seen at the office of the Commissioner of the Department of Public Utilities, Savannah, Ga., or may be had by bona fide bidders upon application to The J. N. Chester Engineers, Union Bank Building, Savannah, Ga., on deposit of a certified check for Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00). The check will be returned to the bidder to two copies of said specifications and one set of plans. Proper receipt for each such deposit will be returned. The money will be refunded on receipt of bona fide bid of the return, in good condition, within thirty days of the date of the opening of bids, of plans and specifications. Each proposal shall be accompanied by a certified check or approved bid bond made payable to the order of the Treasurer of the City of Savannah, Ga., in the sum of Two Percent of the total amount of the bid, and in no case less than One Hundred Dollars ($100.00). This check or bid bond is to be conditioned that if the bidder fails to execute and complete the work within the time specified in the contract, he shall forfeit the sum of $100.00 to the City of Savannah, Ga. In case bid is rejected or contract entered into, the check will be returned to the bidder. The bidder will be required to furnish a corporate surety bond in an acceptable surety company in the full amount of the contract. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Sibley, W. H. Barrett, of Augusta, and Circuit Judge Nathan J. Bryan, of Jacksonville, Fla. Judge Sibley announced Monday afternoon that the decision would probably be rendered today.

The number of complainants against Dr. Bannan's order was brought to three when Attorney J. E. Hall, of Macon, at the beginning of the hearing Monday morning filed a plea of intervention in the case in behalf of the Georgia, Southern & Florida railroad. The Seaboard Air Line and the Atlantic Coast Line railroads were the complainants in the original bill.

Attorneys Argue Case.

Attorney Blair Foster, of the firm of Robert C. Alston, representing the Atlantic Coast Line, opened the case Monday afternoon, being followed by Robert S. Parker, for the Seaboard Air Line, and Attorney H. L. Bryan, attorney for Seminole county, Fla., who is assisting Florida state officials in the fight.

The next to appear before the tribunal, speaking for more than an hour, was Attorney General George M. Napier followed Mr. Bryan, after which the concluding argument was made by Attorney Alston, who announced, will be filed this morning when court convenes at 10 o'clock.

The hearing was opened Monday morning by Attorney Alston, who read the original petition, which charged that Dr. Bannan's order amounted to a confiscation of approximately $1,000,000 worth of Florida watermelons, which were all ready for shipment, and that such was an unjust burden on interstate commerce and unjustified by any emergency.

The petition further charged that the state veterinarian was not clothed with legal authority to promulgate such an order, that the embargo was placed on the Florida watermelon shipment solely by Dr. Bannan, and that the approval of the Georgia commissioner of agriculture was not given until several days after the order was issued. This feature was also argued at length during the afternoon session.

The order of Dr. Bannan was made payable to the order of the Treasurer of the City of Savannah, Ga., in the sum of Two Percent of the total amount of the bid, and in no case less than One Hundred Dollars ($100.00). This check or bid bond is to be conditioned that if the bidder fails to execute and complete the work within the time specified in the contract, he shall forfeit the sum of $100.00 to the City of Savannah, Ga. In case bid is rejected or contract entered into, the check will be returned to the bidder. The bidder will be required to furnish a corporate surety bond in an acceptable surety company in the full amount of the contract.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

ONLY ELEVEN DRIVERS FINED DURING MONDAY

E. Martin, 28, of Brookhaven, drew the heaviest penalty imposed on a traffic law violator in recorder's court Monday when he was fined $16 on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, and bound over to the state courts under $300 bond. Eleven drivers were fined during the day, total fines amounting to $214.

Seven of the eleven fined were found guilty of speeding, while two were fined for reckless driving, one for violating traffic ordinances, and one for operating a car while drunk.

Records show that a total of $28,850 in fines was paid in recorder's court during June, fines having been imposed for violations of practically every city ordinance.

Fourteen new traffic cases were docketed by police during Monday, Southern Bell building being charged with violating traffic ordinances, two with breaking the state automobile law, one with speeding, and the other with driving a car while intoxicated.

So well is the traffic situation under control that not a single accident was reported to police Monday. Following are those fined Monday in recorder's court:

KRYPTOK BIFOCALS
The Ballard Make

They are a combination of glass allowing you to see both near and far with one solid glass. No removing your reading glass to see distant objects, no seams, lines or blisters to worry you or attract attention of others to your age. Absolutely invisible while on the face, they have proven a revelation to thousands who have come to us for them. Why are we successful with Kryptoks? Because, we are extremely careful in the examination of your eyes, the correct grinding of the glass, and perfect adjustment of frames to each individual face, all of which is absolutely necessary to insure comfort and appearance. If you have Kryptoks bought elsewhere and cannot use them bring them to us and we will find the trouble. As the better oculists or any of our patients who the Ballard service is to the public.
